Bonus Leaders Decide To Fight For Vinson Measure

WILL SCRAP PATMAN BILL FOR SESSION G. A. R. COMPLETES MEMORIAL DAY PROGRAM

PASTOR-BANDIT IS FREED FROM PRISON

Senator Thomas Declares Will Do Utmost to Pay Off Certificates

WASHINGTON, May 28.—(UP)—Congressional bonus leaders decided today to fight for a bonus bill "of any kind."

The decision means that the Patman inflation measure, vetoed by the president, will be scrapped in favor of the Vinson bill, unless the "Greenback" bill shows greater strength in a senate poll.

Following a meeting of senate and house leaders who fought for adoption of the Patman over the Vinson bill, Sen. Elmer Thomas, D., Okla., announced that his group would "do its utmost" to pay the soldiers their adjusted service certificates, letting inflation "go by the board" if necessary.

Thomas said the best opportunity for such action would be to attach it to any bill extending and modifying the NRA in light of the supreme court decision.

He said no compromise such as the Harrison bill which reduces the amount to be paid to the soldiers would be accepted, but that a combination of the Patman and Vinson bills would be satisfactory.

Since members of congress intend to try every way possible to pass a bonus bill this session, Thomas said, there is no need for a bonus march. He said a march would hurt the soldiers, rather than benefit them.

FUTURE GLOWS WITH PROMISE ON FIRST BIRTHDAY

It's a red-letter day at the Dionnes, as the quintuplets celebrate a truly happy birthday. Cecile, left, and Yvonne, center, evidently are crying out the infantile equivalent of "whoopie." The general confusion makes Marie, second from the left, register alarm with a big "A" and Emelie and Annette seem to be chewing this birthday thing over. It's the first birthday for the quint and all Canada joined in early morning prayers for the health, long life and happiness for the world's most famous babies. It's just another day for the babes—a day full of growing wonder.

Services To Be Held At Cemetery

Civil War Veterans of Orange and Santa Ana in Joint Services

ANNOUNCEMENT of the completed program for the annual Memorial Day exercises in the old Santa Ana cemetery Thursday morning was made today by C. F. Millen, who is arranging the program.

Members of Sedgwick Post No. 17 of Santa Ana and of Gordon Granger Post No. 181, of Orange, Grand Army of the Republic, will gather at Soldier's Monument at the south entrance to the old cemetery at 10 o'clock Memorial Day to pay tribute to the memory of their dead comrades.

Commander J. H. Brown of Sedgwick post will be in charge of the exercises. He expressed the hope that a large crowd will aid in the observance of the day.

The program will open with music by the Spanish American drum corps, to be followed by group singing of "America." Following the singing of "America," the Rev. Samuel Edgar will give the invocation. Another musical number will follow.

J. R. Moore will give the traditional reading of General J. A. Logan's General Orders No. 11. Elbert Stewart will be featured in a selection to be presented by the Women's Relief Corps. Mrs. J. H. Brown will read Lincoln's Gettysburg address.

The address of the day will be given by the Rev. Albert Eakin Kelly, of Santa Ana. Following the address the Spanish American War Veterans' band will give the salute to the dead. Glen Cave and his son, from the American Legion post, Santa Ana, will blow taps on bugles and the program will close with a benediction by the Rev. Edgar.

Residents of Santa Ana who wish to donate flowers to be used in decorating the 600 graves of the soldier dead may leave the flowers at the homes of Mrs. Kate Sutton, 208 South Flower street, Mrs. C. P. Millen, 516 West Santa Clara avenue and at the home of Mrs. J. R. Moore, 424 West Second street. Those who have flowers may telephone 1914-W or 727-R and the flowers will be called for. These flowers will be used to decorate the graves of Civil War veterans.

Sons of Union Veterans of the Civil War will meet tomorrow afternoon at 10:30 p. m. at the monument to put out flags on the graves of Civil War veterans and will meet again at 7 o'clock Thursday morning to place flowers on the graves of the "Boys in Blue."

AMERICAN INDUSTRY SITS TIGHT

Entire Nation Looking to Administration; Pleas Made by Richberg

BULLETIN
WASHINGTON, May 28.—(UP)—The framework of a new NRA devoid of compulsory features and based on a plan of voluntary cooperation by business, is being formulated by the administration, the United Press learned today.

The drafting of new legislation designed to survive the supreme court was going forward swiftly as industrial leaders sought to prevent any approach to chaos as a result of the downfall of the NRA structure of compulsory codes.

By UNITED PRESS
AMERICAN industry "sat tight" today awaiting developments as a result of the supreme court decision nullifying NRA, and Donald Richberg's appeal for voluntary code compliance. A few industrial leaders warned against "hasty action," others said they would continue as they had been under the codes but most of them delay definite action.

Labor meantime threatened strikes if necessary to maintain present hour and wage standards.

Developments at the national capital, where confusion clouded the possible outcome of administration efforts to salvage NRA, were waited anxiously by employers and employees all over the nation, a United Press survey showed.

Labor leaders took an aggressive stand, warnings of "strikes if necessary" being issued by President Thomas F. McMahon of the United Textile Workers; Emil Rieve, president of the American Federation of Hosiery Workers, and others.

Employers, except those who reassured workers that there would be no immediate change in hours or wages, preferred to remain silent for the time being.

At Dayton, O., the Journal and Herald removed the blue eagle from their newspaper mastheads.

PASTOR-BANDIT IS FREED FROM PRISON

SAN QUENTIN PRISON, May 28.—(UP)—Herbert Wilson, who turned from preaching the gospel to mail robbery and murder, today awaited his release from San Quentin prison after 12 years' imprisonment in expiation of his career of crime.

The state board of prison terms and paroles granted Wilson a parole, effective Monday, upon recommendation of postpaid inspectors. The parole order stipulated Wilson must leave the country at once and never return.

Wilson was a preacher in Oregon and Canada when he suddenly discarded his clergyman role in 1913 to become one of his generations most notorious bad men.

DIONNE BABIES CELEBRATE FIRST BIRTHDAY; PARTY IS HELD AT DAFOE'S HOSPITAL

CALLENDER, Ont., May 28.—(UP)—Friends and neighbors plodded across a countryside fresh and green with rain and wound up a hill to the grey church today to pray for the Dionne quintuplets on their first birthday.

But not Elzire and Oliva Dionne. There were some at the church who knew the five famous babies only by hearsay or a fleeting glimpse, but the parents of the quintuplets did not attend the high mass in honor of themselves and the babies nor did they come here to pray as they had said they might do.

Candles burned brightly at the church altar. Father McNally wore his first robes of purple and gold. The little chapel was beautiful in its simplicity.

Come of the pews are hand-hewn benches, scrubbed white through many years.

The parishioners gathered afterward in little knots to greet one another with the customary "is va" salutation.

Judge J. A. Valin, chief guardian of the babies, who tries to be the middle-road man between local residents and "the Toronto crowd," came to mass alone, lingered about afterward to greet the parishioners in their own tongue.

Welfare Commissioner David Croll who sponsored the bill making the babies "wards of the state" was also present.

Safe Return Of Kidnaped Boy Is Seen

TACOMA, Wash., May 28.—(UP)—Safe return of George Weyerhaeuser, 9-year-old Tacoma school boy, was forecast today as his wealthy family was believed making contacts with the kidnapers who seized the child in front of Annie Wright seminary last Friday.

Following closely after a request from the boy's father, John Philip Weyerhaeuser, grandson of the founder of the family's vast timber holdings, that federal agents and police cease to "interfere," and a night of unusual activity at the Weyerhaeuser home, a third classified advertisement appeared in a Seattle paper today.

"We are ready, Percy Minnie," was the ad's terse notice to the abductors. The ad, replacing a rather colorful one, had been carried for two days asking the kidnapers to name a new avenue of approach, was believed to indicate that further word had been received at the big white house on the hill.

Meanwhile, on a vague report the boy was seen in an automobile in Vancouver, B. C., last Saturday, some 20 hours after he disappeared, two Tacoma detectives were in the Canadian city today working with British Columbia provincial police in an effort to run down the car.

Elsewhere the federal men approached.

CALIFORNIA INTERNATIONAL EXPOSITION AT SAN DIEGO TO OPEN DOORS WEDNESDAY

SAN DIEGO, Cal., May 28.—(UP)—Balboa park, transformed from a verdant playground into a city of enchanting beauty, swings wide its gates tomorrow for opening of the California International Exposition. President Roosevelt will join in the opening day exercises which start at 11 a. m.

A whistle on the steamer Normandie, en route from France to New York, will shriek a greeting that will be carried by radio to the Exposition grounds. Reversing the radio circuit, a mission bell will toll in the tower of the California building as a greeting to Europe and America.

At 8 p. m., President Roosevelt will broadcast a message from the White House over a nationwide hookup. The ceremonies will be completed and the Exposition formally launched when two unidentified orphans, concealed on the Exposition grounds, throw a switch, turning on tens of thousands of varied-colored lights.

To the 100,000 or more opening day visitors, Managing Director Zach J. Farmer and other exposition officials promise a host of surprises.

Surprising, too, will be the beauty of the many exhibit halls that sprawl across 1,400 acres of rolling woodland that is Balboa Park, one of the five most famous parks in the world.

YOUTH KILLED AS CAR TURNS OVER NEAR H. B.

ENROUTE to a new job in a cafe at Laguna Beach, Sonny H. Del Rosario, 22-year-old Filipino youth from Los Angeles, was instantly killed at 3 o'clock this morning when the car in which he was riding struck a sand drift and overturned.

The accident happened one and one-half miles east of Huntington Beach on the Coast highway as the car, occupied by four Filipinos, turned out of the road to pass a motor bus, according to reports.

Rosario was riding in the rumble seat, and died instantly of a fractured skull.

His death marks the twenty-fourth traffic fatality of the year to date, one more than on this date last year. It was one year ago today that Thomas L. Mc-

LATE FLASHES

SAN FRANCISCO, May 28.—(UP)—Twelfth district naval headquarters today reported the death of Rear Admiral W. C. Cole, retired, at Mare island naval hospital.

SACRAMENTO, May 28.—(UP)—Proponents of the chain store tax bill successfully fought off numerous amendments today and final consideration of the bill was deferred until tomorrow.

Newspapers were exempted in one amendment, to which there was only one dissenting vote.

STATE BUDGET IS BLOCKED BY 52 TO 28 VOTE

SACRAMENTO, Cal., May 28.—(UP)—The long-threatened blockade of the 1935-37 California budget became a reality today as a group of assembly Democrats and anti-administration Republicans rebelled against legislative refusal to consider or adopt certain tax and social security measures demanded by progressives.

Failure of the $552,000,000 budget bill to obtain a two-thirds majority in the lower house brought jubilation to Assemblyman William Moseley Jones, democratic leader.

Meanwhile, on a vague report the boy was seen in an automobile in Vancouver, B. C., last Saturday, some 20 hours after he disappeared, two Tacoma detectives were in the Canadian city today working with British Columbia provincial police in an effort to run down the car.

Elsewhere the federal men approached.

STREETS OF NEWPORT BEACH FLOODED AS GROUND SWELLS AND RIP TIDES POUND BEACH

RIP TIDES and ground swells again pounded over the beach and into the streets of Newport Beach last night, causing basements to be flooded and traffic to be halted along Central Avenue for more than an hour.

The floods occurred with a 50-ton Pacific Electric car was stalled when the waters reached its motor. It was towed to Los Angeles by the next car through. Car services were supplanted for the evening by buses.

More than $15,000 damage was caused by the tides which occurred last August at West Newport, and continued through November. The flood tides recurred four times.

Resident of the endangered beach were taking precautions against a recurrence of such money loss. Tides for the balance of the week grow higher each evening, reaching a peak of six feet, five inches on Friday evening.

High tides and breakers caused some damage along the coast at other points, causing damage to piers at Long Beach, and making small boat navigation along the coast hazardous.

FOUR LOSE LIVES AS BOMBER CRASHES

SEQUOIA NATIONAL PARK, May 28.—(UP)—Four men were killed today and their bodies badly burned when an army bombing plane from Mather field, Sacramento, crashed during squadron maneuvers over Sequoia National park.

Three bodies, burned beyond immediate identification, were recovered by telephone company linemen who fought flames and explosions to recover them from the twisted wreckage.

The victims were believed to be: Edgar Root, 28, Huntsville, Ala., pilot.

Private Tui Porter, radio operator.

Allyn Alexander, San Francisco, Fox Movietone manager.

Lewis Tappan, Alexander's assistant.

STEINMETZ CASE IS GIVEN TO JURYMEN

NEW YORK, May 28.—(UP)—The case of Joseph Leib Steinmetz, charged with the murder of his bride, Ruth, went to a jury today after completion of the Judge's charge.

Steinmetz is charged with shooting his wife and the Rev. John J. Leonard to death in a hotel room. He contended that he could not remember firing the shots.

Judge Charles C. Nott Jr., in an hour long charge, instructed the jury to acquit Steinmetz if it found that he was in such a state of mind at the time of the slaying that he was lacking knowledge of his act.

PRESIDENT OF CHAMBER OF COMMERCE OF MEXICO WILL BE GUEST HERE WEDNESDAY

MANUEL Monoz Castillo, president of the Associated Chambers of Commerce of Mexico and his party will be guests of the Santa Ana Chamber of Commerce at a luncheon tomorrow noon in the Green Cat cafe, it was announced today by W. H. Spurgeon, president of the local chamber.

Some time ago the chamber of commerce here sent a letter of invitation to the distinguished Mexican party, in California to take part in the observance of Foreign Trades Week, to stop in Santa Ana during their visit to this state.

Today the chamber of commerce received a letter from Castillo, accepting the invitation and naming tomorrow as the day for the visit. The party now is in San Francisco and will be in Santa Ana tomorrow on the way down to San Diego to attend the opening of the California-Pacific International Exposition.

Castillo, prominent Mexican industrialist, will be accompanied by a party of 20 Mexicans who are prominent men in their native land.

Will Rogers Says:

HOLLYWOOD, May 28.—(To the Editor of The Register): Poor old "New Deal". She went to bat three times yesterday with the Supreme Court pitching and she struck out each time. There was a bill (where a farmer didn't have to pay his mortgage for five years.) The court said Frazier and Lemke were both wrong. Then come the N.R.A., and they washed that up. And to make it a Republican holiday, they decided that a Mr. Humphrey that used to work for the Federal Trade Commission should be working there yet, even if he was a Republican, so the Supreme Court just stole the spotlight from Jesse Owens.

Yours, WILL ROGERS.

appeared to carry on their investigations despite the plea of the distraught father. They were staying away from the Weyerhaeuser home as far as appearances went, but at the same time were continuing to run down clues as far away as California.

Possibility that either of two Washington gamblers, the old Eagers gang of rum runners and bank robbers, or the "Bremerton gang" suspected of being smugglers and of the mass slaying of six persons in a Puget Sound summer home, engineered the kidnaping were not overlooked by the federal agents and police.

A convict, former member of the Eagers gang was interviewed in a California prison. By air, by water and by road, the government men filled around Kitsap county, scene of the Bremerton mass murders which were never solved.

CALIFORNIA INTERNATIONAL EXPOSITION AT SAN DIEGO TO OPEN DOORS WEDNESDAY

All of early California or Spanish architecture, their exterior was planned with one main thought in mind—beauty of outline. Completed, they stand a fitting monument to their builders.

More than $10,000,000 has been spent in erecting the buildings and beautifying the grounds. This outlay is independent of the vast sums spent by exhibitors. Officials expect to be rewarded by the patronage of eight million or more visitors before the exposition closes November 11.

The exhibit buildings include the Palace of Travel, Transportation and Water; the Federal building; the Ford Exhibit, Palace, Gold Gulch, Palace of Education, Palace of Foods and Beverages, the House of Pacific Relations, the Palace of Better Housing and Administration building, the Cafe of the World, the Palace of Science, the Palace of Photography, Hollywood motion picture hall of fame, the House of Charm, the Palace of Fine Arts, the Christian Science building, the California State building, the House of Hospitality, the American and Canadian Legion building, Model-town and Modernization Magic, the Amusement Zone and Spanish Village and others.

From Other Lands

Flags of 24 foreign countries flutter from the House of Pacific Relations. Here are housed national exhibits from Japan, Mexico, Canada, South America and European countries.

Out of Mexico has come a collection of rare jewels and relics that tell the story of the Mayans and the Aztecs. Known as the Monte Alban jewels, they consist of rare bits of gold, delicate rock crystal goblets so fragile in craftsmanship that archaeologists believe each one represents a life's work, beaten gold death masks, jaguar bones graven with incrustations of turquoise and many other relics worth a king's ransom.

Daily symphony concerts will be held in the open-air amphitheater that is part of the Ford exhibit. The building, erected at a cost of $3,000,000, will be donated to the city after the exposition closes. It seats approximately 6,000 persons.

Midway Too

Every county fair has a midway. The Amusement Zone at the Exposition is crisscrossed with such hooping attractions as "Sensation," "Snake Farm," "Crime Never Pays," "Swooper Ride," "Grunt Derby," "Gay's Lion Farm," "Zoro Gardens," "Boulder Dam," "End of the Trail," "Globe of Death," "Lens Wonders of the World," "Days of Saladin," "Laff in the Dark," "Midget Farm," "Venetian Glass Blowers," and "Believe It or Not."

Off the midway is Gold Gulch, a 21-acre exhibit that recreates the era of the '40's. It faithfully portrays a pioneer gold-boom town complete with "stamp mill" (dance hall), sheriff's office, blacksmith shop, Mexican restaurant, general store, First-and-Last Chance saloon, barber shop and theater.

Art treasures worth $250,000 are displayed in the Spanish Village. The collection includes original paintings by such old masters as Zyrbaran, Greco and Goya, and valuable tapestries owned for generations by Spain's royal family.

Copy Old Gardens

From Spain also were borrowed "copies" of the garden of the Moorish king at Ronda and a patio of the alcazar at Seville. Moorish touches are detected in the architectural lines of the Spanish Village with its quaint squat pillars and low arches.

Those who like zoos will find here one of the two most complete collections in the world. Great antelopes and animals of virtually every species in captivity are on exhibition. Only a few weeks ago was born one of those rarest of zoological treasures—an Albino lion.

Representatives of 25 tribes inhabit the Indian village. Sioux, Tonkawa, Blackfoot, Navajos, Yakimas, Osage, Choctaw, Cherokee, Tewa, Utes, Plutons, Iroquois, Mohawks, Kiowas, Modocs, Hopis, all are established in homes exact replicas of their native habitats.

Exhibit of Movies

The Screen Actors guild and the Domino Club of Hollywood are in charge of the motion picture hall of fame. Here on exhibition are several complete sets of recent film productions. Visitors will be shown how pictures are made with various stars rotating as leading players.

"America's most spectacular lighting system" is the way exposition officials describe the electrical magic that will bring nighttime enchantment to palaces, plazas, trees, shrubs and flowers. The great illuminating project is designed to paint, rather than flood, the grounds with 30 different shades of light. Every source is concealed. One of the outstanding features is installed in the million-dollar Speckles Outdoor Organ and is called the Aurora Borealis. The unique display consists of seven high intensity searchlights fed by a huge motor generator set and mounted on a revolving 15-foot turntable. The lights will rove over San Diego Bay, the hills, the city proper and the Exposition area.

The group which met yesterday decided to make a change in the exhibit in order to show all of the communities in the county on the map which is in the center of the jewel box display. The map as now formed shows only the coast and harbor district.

Johnson will go to San Diego tomorrow to personally supervise the opening of the exhibit and to see that everything is in readiness. He has received reports from the exposition that the exhibit which represents Orange county will be completed when the exposition opens.

A general discussion on how to get tourists to come through and stop in Orange county on their way to the exposition took place at the meeting. The idea of erecting special signs at the entrances to the county was dropped for the present time after Harry Welch, Newport Beach, reported that S. V. Cortelyou, state highway engineer, plans to place signs showing where the county begins and ends.

INDUSTRY SITS TIGHT AS NRA MOVE PLANNED

northern cotton mills policy committee, warned against hasty action, pointing to progress made under the code.

Delay Action

Congressional leaders decided to sidetrack the pending AAA amendments because "the uncertainties created by the supreme court's NRA action."

House and senate leaders, conferring on the situation, decided to send the bill now before the senate back to committee for further study and any changes necessary because of the court decision.

The conference was attended by Secretary of Agriculture Henry A. Wallace, Administrator Chester Davis of the AAA and Attorney Seth Thomas of the farm aid unit.

Organized labor, shorn of NRA benefits, today turned to congress for favorable action on the Wagner Labor Disputes bill, the 30-hour week bill, and social security legislation. One group, the United Mine Workers, massed its strength behind the Guffey bill to provide government regulation for the soft coal industry.

The construction industry was disclosed as preparing behind the scenes to follow the lead of bituminous coal operators in offering congress special legislation to take the place of the very act. The Guffey bill originated with the bituminous operators.

Textile Industry

Other groups preparing to swing quickly into line with proposals which, if approved directly by congress, would avoid the supreme court's removal of the delegation of power under NRA, were the petroleum industry, and the distributing trades. A new and special study of the textile industry is about to be announced and may lead to special legislation to replace the textile code.

Labor leaders were disappointed by the supreme court ruling and determined to concentrate their fire to obtain passage of other bills which labor favors. Although the exact status of the famed Section 7-A of the recovery act was not clear, labor believed that its declaration of the rights of workers as now embodied in the Wagner and Guffey bills would not be affected by the NRA decision.

Congress waited for the administration to make the first move toward rescuing the national recovery act from the apparent death sentence imposed by the supreme court.

Leaders were stunned and uncertain of procedure for extension of President Roosevelt's No. 1 recovery experiment. Some believed the court's decision might endanger other industrial reform proposals.

The house democratic steering committee decided hastily to lay aside new deal bills, including the Wagner labor dispute measure, pending a study of constitutional questions raised by the court's decision.

The decision was studied, likewise for possible effects upon AAA amendments now before congress. Chairman Marvin Jones of the house agricultural committee decided to withdraw the amendments until some of the confusion is cleared away.

FACA Outlawed

The liquor business today was "wide open" without any federal regulation except that exerted by the treasury department in collection of taxes.

Officials of the federal alcohol control administration said that the supreme court's NRA ruling took away from the FACA every iota of control it had over the distilling business.

Proposals for new methods of control to replace the FACA codes were discussed. Regulation may be shifted to the treasury, it was indicated, or an entirely new agency may be set up.

FACA officials said liquor now could be advertised in any way its manufacturers desired. It could be placed in any kind of a bottle and that it could be made without regard to the strict rules set up concerning its contents.

They said further that there was nothing to stop erection of one distillery or a thousand anywhere the liquor men might desire, except in those few dry states where local laws would prevent.

"The liquor business today is back just where it was in the old pre-prohibition days," one of them said. "There is nothing in the way of a federal law to stop establishment of a brewery controlled saloon on every corner if the brewers so desire."

Charles E. Duryea, inventor of the first American-built automobile, advocated auto engines in the rear to eliminate "back seat bounce."

crowd" came after mass and mingled with the group. Harry Marceau, legislative member from North Bay, was there too but it was a small and self-conscious gathering, with none of the heartiness of the usual Sunday service, which belongs to the habitants alone.

Meet Guardians

Judge Valin and Commissioner Croft, after a talk with Father McVally, went back to North Bay to a meeting of all the guardians—local and government.

At the small red railroad station at Corbeil the Canadian Pacific trans-continental express stopped for the first time since Christmas to leave gifts for the quints. Telegraphers are busy with congratulatory wires that pour in for quints, parents and Dr. A. R. Dafoe, with long addresses as this one:

"Misses Marie, Emelie, Cecile, Annette, Yvonne Dionne, care of Mr. and Mrs. Dionne."

The quints themselves snoozed contentedly on the verandah of Dafoe hospital, while in all parts of the world men were saying to one another: "Think of it. The quintuplets are one year old today." Life was marvelous to their big eyes as they surveyed the growing world, but their participation in it did not seem to impress them at all.

"Party" Is Held

This afternoon there was a "party" for them in which they participated only by staring out of the windows of their nursery at the Canadian government officials, provincial dignitaries, the clergy, their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Oliva Dionne, their guardians, and people of the countryside. Later they will be carried individually to a microphone and invited to chirp, coo, or bellow, as the mood strikes them, for the benefit of Canadian and American radio audiences. They will be privileged to look at five cakes each bearing a single candle. Then off to bed.

The quints' birthday started with a bang—or at least with Marie's usual 5 o'clock chirping. The song awoke Annette, who greeted the day with such enthusiasm she almost kicked over the table, which woke Cecile and Yvonne and Emelie. Awaiting them were new dresses and new necklaces.

When the company arrived the babies were dressed in new, sheer white batiste birthday dresses, pink-tucked and lace-bordered and exquisite, and in new white organdie bonnets.

They wore their new necklaces, which the Guild of All Arts in Toronto made.

Diamond Rings

The five tiny diamond rings which will be presented at the radio broadcast this afternoon are the gift of the Ostranders of Toronto, a jewelry firm of five brothers.

Today an old gentleman from Maine arrived, having come all the way just to see the quints, bearing a gift of five patchwork quilts his daughter had made.

A California dentist sent them five little sets of false teeth, in ring boxes, to kid the quints through the teething stages, but the quints can't be kidded.

A woman in Alberta sent five scrapbooks, a picture of each owner pasted on the cover, projecting the lives of Yvonne, Annette, Cecile, Emelie and Marie into the future by pictures clipped from newspapers and magazines to suit the subject.

The guests this afternoon included:

YOUTH KILLED AS CAR TURNS OVER NEAR H. B.

Glothin, 52, of Westminster, was killed in a train-auto crash, making the twenty-third fatality of the year.

Rosario lived at the Grand avenue apartments, 833 South Grand avenue, Los Angeles. He was unmarried and had no relatives in the state, so far as known by the other three occupants of the car, including Claud Bertumen, 27, of Taganas, 33, employed at the Mad Hatter cafe, and Mike Dejeus, 32, employed at the Los Onda cafe, Laguna Beach.

Taganas and Dejeus escaped with minor cuts and bruises, but Bertumen was taken to the county hospital suffering from cuts about the face and head, and broken ribs.

The Huntington Beach night patrol investigated the accident and the body of Rosario was taken to the Dixon mortuary in the beach city pending an inquest by Coroner Earl Abbey.

Police reported that none of the car occupants appeared to have been drinking and the car was not going at an excessive speed when it skidded in the sand drift and overturned.

MILDRED OCAIN CALLED AFTER LONG ILLNESS

Mrs. Mildred Ocaín, 65, of 1337 West Ninth street, died yesterday at her home, following an illness of a year. Mrs. Ocaín had lived in Santa Ana for the past 17 years. For seven years she served as the secretary of the Orange County Humane society.

She is survived by her husband, Charles D. Ocaín; one daughter, Mrs. Marjorie Brown, of San Francisco; a grandson, Kensil Brown, of Santa Ana, and a cousin, Mrs. Maude G. Pride, of San Diego.

Announcement of the time of services to be held will be made later by the Winbiger Funeral home.

BOARD GRANTS GAS TAX FUND FOR CITY USE

The county supervisors today appropriated from the gas tax fund the sum of $5248.71 for the city of Santa Ana, in response to a petition from the city council, asking for the money for grading, oiling and other maintenance work on 13 city streets.

A request from the Fullerton Chamber of Commerce for an appropriation of $250 toward the second annual Valencia Orange Festival set for June 6, 7 and 8 at Fullerton, was taken under advisement.

The Corona Del Mar Community club, in a communication to the board signed by Secretary Wanda S. Nino, urged immediate construction of the South Main street extension project, which the county already had submitted to SERA. Advantages of such a new highway were pointed out in the letter.

The supervisors today authorized the examinations, up to the number of 150, for SERA workers who are required to take such examinations to determine their employability by SERA. Where classes are required for employees, SERA furnishes them, but has no provision for the required examination. These will be financed by the county, at a cost of $3 per examination.

Charman John Mitchell today appointed Supervisor W. C. Jerome, of Santa Ana, as a committee to work out the program of dental and medical care of relief workers, as proposed by SERA recently.

The board granted a second-hand dealer's license to V. W. Wiley, at Buena Park.

CITY TO ASK SERA AID IN PREPARING BOWERS MUSEUM FOR OPENING

Construction of boxes, display cases, cabinets, and other equipment necessary to the preservation of exhibits in the Bowers Memorial Museum and its opening to the public, as a SERA project was determined upon last night by action of the Santa Ana city council.

Following investigation of the project to present the project to matter proposed in a letter from SERA authorities, Penn, City Auditor Lloyd M. F. P. Jayne of the SERA regarding cases for skeletons and other relics from Indian burial grounds in the county, Councilman William Penn proposed that a committee be appointed to present the project to SERA authorities.

LEMON PRODUCTION STUDY BY WAHLBERG SHOWS $2.10 PER BOX AVERAGE RETURNS

An average return of $2.69 per cwt. or $2.10 per packed box for owners of 14 lemon groves representing 125 acres for 1934 was reported today by Farm Advisor Harold E. Wahlberg, who announced completion of the annual lemon cost of production study conducted by his office.

The average return for the past nine years was $2.80 per cwt. In the lowest year, 1932, it was $1.90 and in the highest year, 1928, it was $4.42 per cwt.

The collection and summarization of the records of the 14 growers provides a source of information on yields, costs, incomes and relationships of various factors which may be used by the industry as a whole.

The average yield per acre was 157.6 cwt., which is equivalent to 202 packed boxes orchard run. The orchards were divided into two groups; the more profitable, or upper six orchards, and the less profitable, or lower eight orchards, designated as the upper and lower groups.

The upper group had an average yield of 244.2 cwt. per acre while the lower group averaged 121.9 cwt., just about half. The average age of the orchards last year was 19 years. The average nine-year yield was 193.3 cwt. The highest annual average was in 1929 when 240 cwt. was recorded; the lowest in 1930 when 140 cwt. was reported.

First Grade Fruit
In 1934 the upper group averaged 53.3 per cent first grade fruit, the lower group only 32.2 per cent, and the average for all orchards was 42.8 per cent. The percentage of culls for each group was 15.2 for the upper, 29.5 for the lower and 22.4 for all. The analysis showed that the trend of cullage has been upward. A larger portion of the crop each year is being diverted to by-products.

Cultural labor costs which include such items as irrigating, spreading fertilizer, cultivation and other work, both hired and the grower's own labor for the actual hours he worked and credited to him at the going wage scale, averaged $55.87 per acre. To this was added harvesting labor for picking and hauling, $62.86 per acre, making a total average labor cost of $118.73 per acre. The nine-year average total labor cost per acre was $135.94, a higher figure of water were formerly made where today the average water use is less than 15 acre inches per acre. The upper group averaged 15.9 acre inches last year. The most profitable orchard used only seven acre inches of water per acre on its 24-year-old trees. This amount, the report said, would be considered light for normal years with normal foliaged mature trees. The heavy irrigation practice of previous years has not doubt been a major factor contributing to premature decline in Orange county lemon orchards, it was reported.

Red scale was the principal scale pest in the orchards reporting. The majority of the high orchards were fumigated or double treated. Good yields and quality fruit are dependent upon healthy trees with a minimum of scale infestation, the report stated.

Considering total cost of production, depreciation charges and interest on invested were included. To the labor, material and cash costs already enumerated amounting to $203.45 per acre, there was $34.45 per acre added for depreciation on improvements, equipment and trees, and $93.52 for interest at six per cent on the average investment of $1558.62 per acre. The total cost per acre was $341.42 against an average production of 157.6 per acre or $2.11 per cwt.

Because of their higher yields the upper group showed a total cost of $175 per cwt. The lower group on the other hand, with half the yield per acre, showed a total cost of $2.44 per cwt.

SILVERADO CANYON CABIN IS ROBBED

Theft of many household articles from the new cabin of Miss J. M. Merritt of Long Beach in Silverado canyon was investigated yesterday by Deputy Sheriffs R. R. Lutes and James Workman.

Among the articles listed as stolen were two radio sets, an electric iron, 3 dozen cans of food, 1 dozen sheets, 1 dozen pillow cases, 1 dozen face towels, 1 dozen bath towels, 1 dozen tea towels, 13 wool blankets, and 4 pillows.

Entrance to the cabin was gained by breaking a window, the officers reported.

PUMPING TESTS TO BE MADE TOMORROW

Two meetings will be held tomorrow to show the method of measuring water and testing pumping plant efficiency. It was announced today by Assistant Farm Adviser W. M. Cory.

One of the meetings will be held at 10 a. m. at the E. A. Wakeham ranch one-half mile north of Chapman avenue on Gilbert road, Garden Grove, and the other meeting will be held at 2 p. m. on the J. J. Dwyer ranch, one-fourth mile north of Lincoln boulevard on Dale avenue, Anaheim.

Subject matter to be presented at the meetings will interest all pump owners and operators, Cory said. Timely information on water application also will be given.

POLICE WILL OPEN DRIVE ON PARKING

It usually costs $1 to park too long in any one spot on Santa Ana's business streets.

There are ten-minute zones; there are some blocks in which you can only park one hour without danger of the penalty; and in other blocks you can park two hours.

These parking limits were set by law as a protection to the business interests of Santa Ana. Chief of Police Floyd Howard said today, as he announced a new drive on over-time parking in the city.

"Thousands of Exposition visitors will be passing through Santa Ana this summer," Howard said, "and we should all co-operate in leaving downtown parking space available for them so they can stop in our city and perhaps spend some of their money here."

"It is to the interest of everyone that merchants, their employees, and professional people use the parking lots or else park farther away from the business district so that visitors to the city may find it easy to stop and park."

A recent bulletin of the Santa Ana Business Men's association to members urging that local business people park their cars away from the center of town was cited by Howard as a progressive step, and all police officers will be instructed to help bring this result about, Howard declared.

Police News

A bicycle reported stolen by J. L. Cunningham of 428 East Fifth street was recovered by police on East Walnut street and returned to the owner yesterday.

An automobile reported stolen by G. J. Sawyer of Orange at Fourth and Main streets, was recovered later in the evening by the owner near Birch park, according to report of the incident on file at the police station.

Kenneth Orcutt, 1016 West Myrtle, has reported to police the theft of a bicycle from the high school. Lee Lyons, 1918 South Parton, reported his bicycle taken from the Municipal Bowl, and Ernie W. Reed, 1223 Maple avenue, reported his wheel stolen from the side of his house.

Just What Supreme Court Decision Means

WASHINGTON, May 28.—(UP)—The ABC's of the supreme court's decision on NRA and what it means:

Q. What did the supreme court do to NRA? A. It decided unanimously that entire vast structure of 557 codes and 201 supplemental codes covering some 3,000,000 establishments and 22,000,000 workers is invalid.

Q. What becomes of these codes now? A. To all practical purposes they are dead.

Q. Does that mean that an employer henceforth can disregard all the provisions of the codes? Can a cotton manufacturer, for instance, forthwith employ child labor, which the code forbade? A. So far as any action against him by the federal government is concerned, he is free to do so if he desires. The administration appeals to employers and workers to continue to live up to the spirit of the codes voluntarily until the future of NRA can be determined.

Q. Are agreements which in some cases have been made in connection with codes also null and void? A. The NRA holds that contractual arrangements, to which the government was not a party, remain valid. An example is the contract between the United Mine Workers and Bituminous Coal operators, which was made part of the bituminous code, but which also exists as a separate contract.

Q. Are even the minimum wage and maximum hours provisions of the codes invalid? A. They are all null and void. There no longer is any federal authority saying how many hours a man may work or how much he must be paid.

Section 7-A
Q. How about famous Section 7-A, which guaranteed labor the right to organize and bargain collectively? A. That apparently is inoperative too; at least for the time being it had been made effective only as it was incorporated in codes, and the codes all are dead.

Q. Why did the supreme court hold the codes invalid? A. The court's broadest finding was that congress had exceeded its constitutional powers when it delegated to President Roosevelt the power to approve codes by fair competition and give them the force of law.

Q. Why was this unconstitutional? A. The constitution provides that law-making power shall be vested in congress. To a limited degree, power can be delegated to the president to carry out the wishes of congress. In NRA, Chief Justice Hughes said, congress had set up no standards to guide the president and had not defined standards of fair competition, but instead "the discretion of the president in approving or prescribing codes, and thus enacting laws for the government of trade and industry throughout the country, is virtually unfettered."

Q. On what other grounds did the court act? A. It dealt specifically with the power of the federal government to regulate hours and wages. Wages and hours provisions had been mandatory in every code.

Wage Regulation
Q. What did the court say about federal power to regulate wages and hours? A. It held that the federal government can regulate hours and wages only in cases of business which directly affect interstate commerce.

Q. What is the significance of that finding? A. The new deal had contended that because conditions in even a small local shop may have a slight effect on interstate commerce, therefore the great bulk of American business could be regulated under the federal power to regulate interstate commerce. The supreme court said that logic was all wrong. Under the new deal's contention, the court said, the whole constitutional distinction between the federal power to regulate commerce among the states, and the state power to regulate business within state borders, would be broken down and the federal government could regulate everything.

Q. Where did the court draw the line between that which directly affects interstate commerce, and therefore is subject to federal regulation, and that which cannot be touched by the federal government? A. The precise line can be drawn only as individual cases arise, the court said, but it laid down the principle that "where the effect of interstate transactions upon interstate commerce is merely indirect, such transactions remain within the domain of state power."

By way of example, the court cited that railroad rates on shipments strictly within a state may be regulated federally if they unjustly discriminate against interstate commerce. On the other hand, the whole field of retail trade, barber shops and all similar local enterprises seems clearly beyond the pale of federal regulation under existing circumstances. Between the two lie a middle group of businesses over which the question of jurisdiction is not yet clear.

Pending Legislation

Q. What does the court's ruling do to the pending legislation to extend NRA, which otherwise will expire June 16? A. The whole legislative program has been held up while attorneys, congressmen and senators study the decision minutely.

Q. Could a new law be enacted in such a form as to be approved by the court? A. Opinion is divided. Some believe the court's views on delegation of power to the president could be met if congress prescribed detailed standards of fair competition and laid down certain other rules for the president to follow. Even if this could be done, however, it appears new federal codes could not be made to apply to the vast part of American business which the court holds is beyond the federal power to regulate interstate commerce. Others believe the decision wills beyond revival the entire scheme of codes, so long as the constitution remains as it is now.

Q. Could the constitution be changed to give the federal government specific power to do the things the court has forbidden? A. Yes; that could be done by amendment.

Q. How could an amendment be adopted? A. An amendment first would have to be passed by two-thirds votes in both house and senate. Then it would have to be ratified by 36 of the 48 states, either through their legislatures or through special conventions.

Q. Is there any indication that the administration plans such a course? A. The administration for the time being says merely that it wants to maintain the gains made under NRA; and that the question of how to do it must be decided very soon by the government, congress and the people.

Q. What happens to other NRA cases pending in the courts? A. All prosecutions must be dropped automatically. There are some 250 such cases pending.

No Redress
Q. What about individuals or firms which previously were convicted of code violations and already had served jail terms or paid fines. A. If their cases were closed, and they had not appealed, they have little chance for redress now.

Q. What effects will the decision have on other federal laws or proposed legislation? A. These effects may be far-reaching, but they cannot be stated definitely at this time. Some believe that parts of the agricultural adjustment act, particularly AAA marketing agreements, are jeopardized. Validity of the Wagner Labor disputes bill and the Black 30-hour week bill are questioned by some. Their sponsors say they are not affected by the decision.

Q. What happens to the 4,800 employees of NRA here and throughout the country? A. Apparently the organization itself will continue to exist until June 16 and the employees will retain their jobs until then.

Q. What about the various code authorities and their thousands of employees? A. Their legal existence as code authorities ceased with the fall of the codes but in many cases they will be continued as trade association organizations.

Q. What happens to authority of NRA? A. The federal alcohol administration exercised its powers over the liquor industry through NRA codes and hence has lost most, if not all, its power. The oil administration set up under Secretary of Interior Harold I. Ickes to administer the petroleum code loses all the power it exercised under the code. But officials said regulation of "hot oil" would continue as this power rests on the Connally act, which was passed to correct defects in the original "hot oil" section of the Recovery act. NRA codes which were being administered for convenience by AAA fell with the others.

Such extraneous organizations as the public works administration and the export-import banks, which were set up under authority of the Recovery act, are not affected by the decision but will die unless legislation is passed by June 16.

Airmail poundage increased 49 per cent on the England-South Africa service during the quarter ended June 30, 1934, as compared with the corresponding period of 1933.

OUTDOOR GIRL CONTEST WILL BE HELD HERE

The Santa Ana High school entry in the California Outdoor Girl contest, which is to be held in connection with the California Horse fair in Salinas on July 13 will be selected tomorrow at the Loper Riding academy on Newport road. It was announced today.

The purpose of the contest is to promote healthful outdoor activity among girls of high school age, and particularly to encourage interest in horsemanship. The winner in the state contest and her mother will be given a trip to the Hawaiian Islands.

Among those who will compete in the local contest are Josephine Butler, Geraldine Gilbert, Jeanette Klatt, Margaret Munro and Barbara Rowland.

Judges for the affair will be Mrs. Maydelle McFadden, Mrs. A. S. Ralph and Mrs. Sam Jernigan.

BROOKS MANAGER IS ENTHUSIASTIC ABOUT SANTA ANA

Although he has been in Santa Ana only a week, Nat Levy, new manager of the Brooks Clothing store at East Fourth and Bush streets, is highly enthusiastic about business possibilities in this city and the progressive spirit of the people, Levy declared today.

"Santa Ana is the center of a mighty rich territory," Levy declared, "and there is every reason in the world why this city should lead the way to returning business activity and prosperity."

This city is 20 years ahead of any similar sized city in the British Isles, Levy declared while telling of his recent trip to his old home in Newport, South Wales.

A satisfactory increase in business at the Brooks store was reported by Levy, who said Saturday's total was a third larger than the previous Saturday. He also waxed enthusiastic about the values in a new shipment of gabardines at $25 received by the store on Saturday.

Levy has been associated with the Brooks organization for the past five years, managing two stores in Los Angeles and one at Fresno. He was placed in charge of the Santa Ana store at his own request, having been impressed with the many advantages of this community, including climate and proximity to the beaches.

He is making his home at the Santa Ana Hotel.

Picnics and Reunions

OKLAHOMA

The annual spring picnic rally of the Oklahomans will be held all day Thursday, Decoration day, May 30, in Sycamore Grove park.

Los Angeles. Every Oklahoman is invited including tourists, sooners and all who were in the runs. Hot coffee will be served and registers open. President Wm. G. Condon has arranged a fine program with W. I. Gilbert as the speaker and entertainment by real Indians from Oklahoma.

THE way Rinso's rich, lively suds soak out dirt without scrubbing or boiling is marvelous to see. Clothes come 4 or 5 shades whiter—safely. Colors come bright and fresh. And clothes last 2 or 3 times longer—because they are not abused by hard, washboard rubbing.

With Rinso you don't need bar soaps, chips or powders—even in hardest water. Rinso's creamy suds make dishwashing and all cleaning quick and easy. Kind to hands. Tested and approved by Good Housekeeping Institute. Recommended by makers of 34 famous washers.

MAY ORGANIZE BOYS AND GIRLS BANDS IN S. A.

Formation of a Santa Ana Boys' band and a Santa Ana Girls' band, similar to the famous organizations in Southgate which have brought that city much state-wide publicity, is proposed for Santa Ana, according to statements made at the Santa Ana city council meeting last night.

The subject was presented by the Rev. J. W. Archer, new pastor of the Four-square Gospel church here and formerly of Southgate, who introduced Merle E. Melvin, who has had charge of the Southgate band work, and who asked the moral support of the city council and city administration in a similar project here, which he said would be of great benefit to the young people of the community. The Southgate Boys' band numbers 150 pieces, Melvin said, and there are 60 in the girls' band. Councilman Ernest H. Layton was appointed by Mayor Fred C. Rowland a committee of one to investigate the band proposal and assist, if possible, in formulating a feasible plan for its operation. Sybil May Archer extended an invitation to the council and city officials to be present at the Four-square church Sunday night, which will be known as Municipal Welcome night, with several municipal officials of Southgate as special guests for the occasion.

TOWNSEND CLUBS

Club No. 3 will hold its first annual Strawberry Festival in the First Christian church Educational building, Sixth and Birch streets from 5 to 9 p. m. Thursday, May 30. The Rev. George A. Warner, pastor of the First Methodist church, will speak at 7:30 p. m. on "Unity." There will be no business session. The public is invited. The Utah Kila orchestra will play during the evening.

COUNCIL OKAYS PARK USE FOR GRADUATION

Birch park will be the scene of the annual Santa Ana Junior college graduation exercises this year, to be held on Thursday afternoon, June 13, according to action of the city council last night in granting use of the park for this purpose.

Request for the park use was submitted to the council by D. K. Hammond, president of the junior college, who said in his letter there will be an academic procession of 200 persons and Birch park is the best spot available for the exercises.

Use of the park on June 13 also includes the privilege of roping off Birch, Second and Third streets to protect the assemblage from undue automobile noise while the ceremonies are in progress.

City Council Member Seth E. Howard of the national guard expressing optimism regarding the proposed grant of federal funds for construction of an national guard armory here, which is now in the hands of President Roosevelt, was received and filed.

A request from the Cushman Decorating company of Long Beach for permission to hang banners across Second and Sycamore streets advertising opening of the Wiegand Food stores in the Grand Central market for one week, was denied. Request of A. W. Martin for permission to conduct a revival camp meeting at 1815 Orange avenue for three weeks, starting May 30, was referred to the police commissioner.

Upon motion of Councilman Ernest H. Layton, it was decided to continue the municipal camp ground at Forest Home upon the same basis as at present, with Custodian W. O. Marriott making a charge for use of the grounds to cover expenses.

Additional time was given City Attorney Lew Blodget to check up on ordinances relating to loud-speakers in the business district. Upon motion of Councilman William Penn, a maximum limit of $750 was set upon the new chassis to be purchased by the fire department for the rescue and utility truck, an increase of $100 over the original estimate. This is necessary, Penn said, in order to get a truck suitable to the needs of the department.

Use of the Municipal Bowl, to the usual rental value of $250, was granted to the board of education for summer playground purposes without charge.

Councilman Joseph P. Smith reported that labor controversies regarding steel work on the new city hall had been satisfactorily adjusted, as reported in The Register yesterday.

WORK OF JANE ADDAMS LAUDED BY J. C. SPEAKER

That Jane Addams' work was to be a human being in the tenement district of Chicago was the opinion of the Rev. Perry F. Schrock when he spoke before a sociology class under the instruction of E. M. Nealley at Santa Ana Junior college this afternoon on the topic "Jane Addams Lives."

Miss Addams established the first social settlement ever to be erected in a large city, continued Schrock, when she opened Hull House in Chicago's tenement district in 1889.

Organization of boys' and girls' clubs was the beginning of her work in Chicago. From that she progressed to the formation of a Social Science club in 1900, when people of Chicago could discuss the panic. It was from this club the Hull house has acquired the reputation of a radical organization, the Rev. Mr. Schrock said.

At different times Miss Addams was offered bequests of $20,000 and $50,000 to continue her work, but refused to accept the money because those offering it were involved in unfair practices toward laborers, he explained.

The work done by Hull house, which is to be continued permanently as a college, is to better social and economic conditions and improve home surroundings for the poor of Chicago, the speaker concluded.

E. M. Nealley, Santa Ana jaycee philosophy instructor, knew Miss Addams when he was attending the University of Chicago. He procured Schrock for the college address after having heard him give the same talk from the pulpit of the first congregational church last Sunday morning.

FULLERTON J. C. ATHLETES FACE DAMAGE TRIAL

Brawny football stars of Fullerton junior college, who were sued for $20,500 damages by Genevieve Johnston, 20, after an alleged tomato throwing episode on Halloween of 1933, today appeared for trial in superior court without a legal quarrel.

Only one of the 23 students sued by Miss Johnston was represented by counsel today, William Johnson having retained the Los Angeles firm of Hunsaker, Moore and Longcroft. A dozen others had originally been represented by the same firm, but for purposes of economy, decided to dispense with legal service and defend themselves, the lawyers told Judge Ames today.

Judge Ames, however, strongly advised the students to get counsel pointing out that they would be facing skilled attorneys on the other side, and with a heavy damage claim at stake, they should protect themselves. He then continued the trial to 9:30 a. m. tomorrow, to give them time to employ counsel.

Miss Johnston, who lost her left eye when struck by flying glass from the windows of the car in which she was riding on Euclid avenue, north of Garden Grove, on the night of October 31, 1933, in charges that the glass was broken by tomatoes hurled from two trucks, on which the defendant students were touring the county for the purpose of a tomato bombardment, she alleged.

William Johnson, Arvald Smith, Kenneth Smith, Dick Nelson, Max Sherwood, Lloyd Sherwood, Felix Basaba, Odell Whitfield, James Jewett, Frank Gleason, Joe Bastanchury, Tom Berkeley and Sam Miller, had been represented by the Los Angeles law firm, with Lloyd Keler as their guardian ad litem, all being minors. All but Johnson dismissed their legal representatives.

Other defendants are Lawrence Meyers, Bob Fahn, Don Tate, Gordon Jahr, Tom Payne, Ed Esmay, Bob Forester, Vincent Jernigan, Wilford Snyder and Don Hobbs. Hobbs today substituted his mother as guardian for George Gohar, who had acted in such capacity. Mrs. Hobbs also was appointed guardian for Snyder.

Many of the defendant students are star Fullerton athletes. Berkeley, colored youth, is Fullerton J. C. basketball captain for next season.

LEAKE FUNERAL TO BE HELD WEDNESDAY

Funeral services for Mrs. Jessie Leake, 72, of the Marcey Ranch, who died yesterday at her home, will be held tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock from the Smith and Tutill funeral home. The Rev. C. A. Duncan, pastor of the First Presbyterian church of Tustin, will be in charge, with interment to be in Fairhaven cemetery.

Mrs. Leake, who had lived in California for 40 years, and on the Marcey ranch for the past 24 years, is survived by her husband, Albert Leake, and three daughters, Miss Donna Leake, of Los Angeles; Mrs. Guy Hayes, of Beverly Hills, and Mrs. Arthur Smith, of Tustin. She was a native of Michigan.

DELEGATES BACK FROM DEMOCRATIC MEET IN FRESNO

Local delegates attending the convention of Young Democrats clubs, held Saturday in Fresno, were R. F. Palmgren, Santa Ana; S. H. Long, Santa Ana, and Ray LaFont, Anaheim. There were more than 300 delegates at the convention.

J. F. T. O'Connor, comptroller of the currency, was the main speaker of the convocation, urging a six-year term for the president of the United States, and urging that he be ineligible for re-election.

Ralph Worthheimer of San Francisco acted as chairman of the convention, and Joseph Kinella of Berkeley as secretary.

O'Connor told the delegates to the meeting that the United States was not in such an unhealthy position as regards the public debt. The total per capita debt of the federal government, he said, is $419, while that of England is $1013, and that of France $597.

ALCOHOL EDUCATION EXHIBIT AT FAIR

Mrs. Pearl Kendall Hess of Orange, state and national director of scientific temperance instruction of the Women's Christian Temperance Union, today called attention to an exhibit at the California Pacific International exposition which opens tomorrow at San Diego.

"An alcohol education exhibit has been installed in the Hall of Science at the exposition under direction of the national W.C.T.U. and all visitors to the fair are invited to visit this exhibit," she said.

DON'T HASTEN AGE

by this unnecessary Drudgery!

The new General Electric Dishwasher washes all the dishes HYGIENICALLY clean in five minutes for less than 1c a day!

How long will she retain her charm and bouyant spirits against the monotonous daily drudgery of dishwashing—the never ending dip, dip, dip of her hands in greasy dishwater three times a day? Dishes—dishes—dishes! In the average home a woman must wash and dry more than ten tons of dishes every year—a stack over twice as tall as the Empire State Building! And this tiring, wearisome task always comes at the end of the day—just when she wants and needs recreation and relaxation.

In days gone by women accepted the long hours of household work unquestioningly—and grew old at 30! Today, this most hated task of dishwashing is unnecessary. The new General Electric Dishwasher abolishes the unsanitary dishcloth—eliminates "dishpan hands"—turns an hour of drudgery into a golden hour of freedom. Modernize your kitchen.

LARGE CROWD AT DISTRICT W. R. C. MEET

More than 125 persons attended the meeting of the Federation No. 1 of the Woman's Relief Corps held last night in the American Legion hall at Garden Grove. Guests included representatives of the American Legion, Sons of the Legion, and G. A. R.

The address of welcome was given by Mrs. Mary Clark, president of the Garden Grove W. R. C. group, and the address of welcome to the city was delivered by Henry Yockey, representing the Garden Grove Chamber of Commerce. The featured address of the evening was given by the Rev. Grover Raleigh, pastor of the Garden Grove Methodist church, who discussed present times and their condition, and the hope for the future. He also paid tribute to the war heroes of the country.

Representatives were present at the meeting from Laguna Beach, Huntington Beach, La Habra, Whittier, Fullerton, Anaheim, Orange, Santa Ana, Costa Mesa, Midway City, Bellflower and Garden Grove.

Among those attending from Santa Ana were the Mesdames Estelle Gray, Geraldine Deal, Elizabeth Birkhead, Viola Fitts, Nan E. Meyers, Molly Smith, Beatrice Hostler, Elizabeth Scott and Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Millen.

Motor Accident Basis for Suit

Maxine Vetter, 12, of 604 East Santa Ana street, Anaheim, yesterday filed suit in superior court through Attorney Roger Dutton, asking $5000 damages against Amanda T. Schneider, and her son, Donald, for injuries received by the Vetter girl on West Center street, Anaheim, when the Schneider car stopped suddenly, between Los Angeles and Lemon streets, and was struck in the rear by a car in which the Vetter girl was riding. The accident took place June 13, 1934.

WAYS TO ATTRACT FAIR VISITORS TO SANTA ANA CONSIDERED BY COMMITTEE

Preliminary plans for activities of wide scope were made at the first meeting of the new Santa Ana Chamber of Commerce publicity, promotions and conventions committee this afternoon in James' cafe.

Particular attention was paid to means of publicizing the city of Santa Ana, attracting conventions here and to do other constructive civic work.

One of the main ideas advanced at the meeting was to form a speakers bureau here. This bureau would be comprised of men with which they are well acquainted. The idea would be to furnish speakers for any group in the county on almost any subject desired.

Members of the committee present at the luncheon meeting today, besides Chairman Hall, included Ray Goodcell, R. C. Radford, E. L. Spencer, Victor Walker and Kenneth Adams.

The next meeting of the committee which right now will concentrate on means of attracting visitors to the exposition to the county, will be next Monday night at 7 o'clock in the chamber of commerce offices.

Many Old Shoes Turned In During Contest At Store

More than 2000 old shoes have been received by the Gallencomp Shoe store in the course of the big sales contest now in its final week at the store. It was announced today by officials of the company.

Votes in the contest are given children bringing in old shoes to the management. Other votes are given for each cash dollar spent in the store, and for registration of adults who are anxious to help their children or friends' children win one of the 32 prizes being offered.

A new 1935 model streamline bike is to be given away by the store as grand prize to the ambitious youngster who collects the most votes in the contest. Many other prizes are being offered, including bats, balls, gloves, dolls and everything dear to a child's heart. One thousand votes are given for each dollar in cash spent in the store up to Saturday night, when the contest closes.

More than 50 children entered in the prize event still have a chance to win one of the big prizes. It was announced this morning, and this last week of the contest should be the biggest ever.

Local Briefs

C. J. Skirvin, well known tire dealer at First and Sycamore streets, announced today that he had been selected as a dealer for the Firestone tires and tubes. Skirvin will sell this well known make of tire in addition to the Diamond and McLaren tires which have been a feature of his establishment for the past several years.

Frank G. Freeman, 45, and Marie E. Golden, 34, both of Santa Ana, have filed notice to wed in Riverside.

A permit to demolish a building on the Bolton property at 1031 East Sixth street was issued today to D. H. Elmer of Costa Mesa.

GILMORE OIL AGENTS SEEK TIDELANDS OIL

Representatives of the Gilmore Oil company today presented a tide-lands oil drilling proposal to the Orange county board of supervisors, by which a lease on tide land pools in the Huntington Beach field would be effected through the county to the Gilmore company, blocking the passage of the tide land bill now under consideration by the state assembly.

Under terms of the Gilmore proposition, which was submitted at about 2 o'clock this afternoon, the company would pay the county 2 1/2 per cent royalty from the start of drilling on the property, and 33 per cent after costs of drilling had been recovered, allowing the county, after state royalties were deducted, a net profit of one and one-half per cent until drilling costs were recovered, and after that three per cent.

The contract would give the state 20 per cent royalty until costs were recovered, after which a 30 per cent royalty would be paid. The oil company representatives said they would make a separate agreement with the city of Huntington Beach, by which they would pay the city the same net royalty the county would receive.

A group from Huntington Beach, headed by City Attorney Ray Overacker and Mayor Tom B. Talbert, was on hand to oppose the measure. It is the belief of interested parties in the beach city that the proposition was submitted by the company today was only an attempt to block passage of the assembly bill and could not be worked out.

They felt, also, that the city of Huntington Beach would be the loser under such an agreement, as the agreement made with Standard Oil and other interested parties at the present time would give the city an approximate royalty of around 3 and 1/2 per cent.

The Gilmore Oil company urged the supervisors to consider the fact that they were the first oil company to come forth with an agreement which would guarantee the county anything.

Under terms of the bill pending the minimum royalty which would be paid the state is approximately 15 and 1/2 per cent. It also would be impossible to lease to anyone by Standard Oil and affiliated companies. It was explained as they control the surrounding property.

PHYSICIANS OF 3 COUNTIES TO MEET JUNE 4

She who shops may read...$f you

The third annual post graduate clinical conference in this district will be held June 4 at the Orange county hospital, under the direction of the California Medical association. It was announced today.

The meeting will open at 4 o'clock in the afternoon of June 4, with a dinner to be held for the delegates at 6 o'clock. All physicians from Orange, San Bernardino and Riverside counties have been extended an invitation, according to Dr. R. E. Hawes, president of the Orange County Medical association, and preparations are being made to care for a large crowd.

Included in the list of speakers for the conference are: Dr. Vernon P. Thompson, from 4 to 5 o'clock, on "The Treatment of Fractures of the Long Bones of the Lower Extremities."

Dr. Donald O. Tolleson, from 5 to 6 o'clock, on "Toxemia of Pregnancy."

Dr. Charles E. Phillips, from 7 to 8 o'clock, on "Surgical Relief of Ulcer of the Stomach."

Dr. Pierre P. Viole, from 8 to 9 o'clock, on "Treatment of Sinusitis."

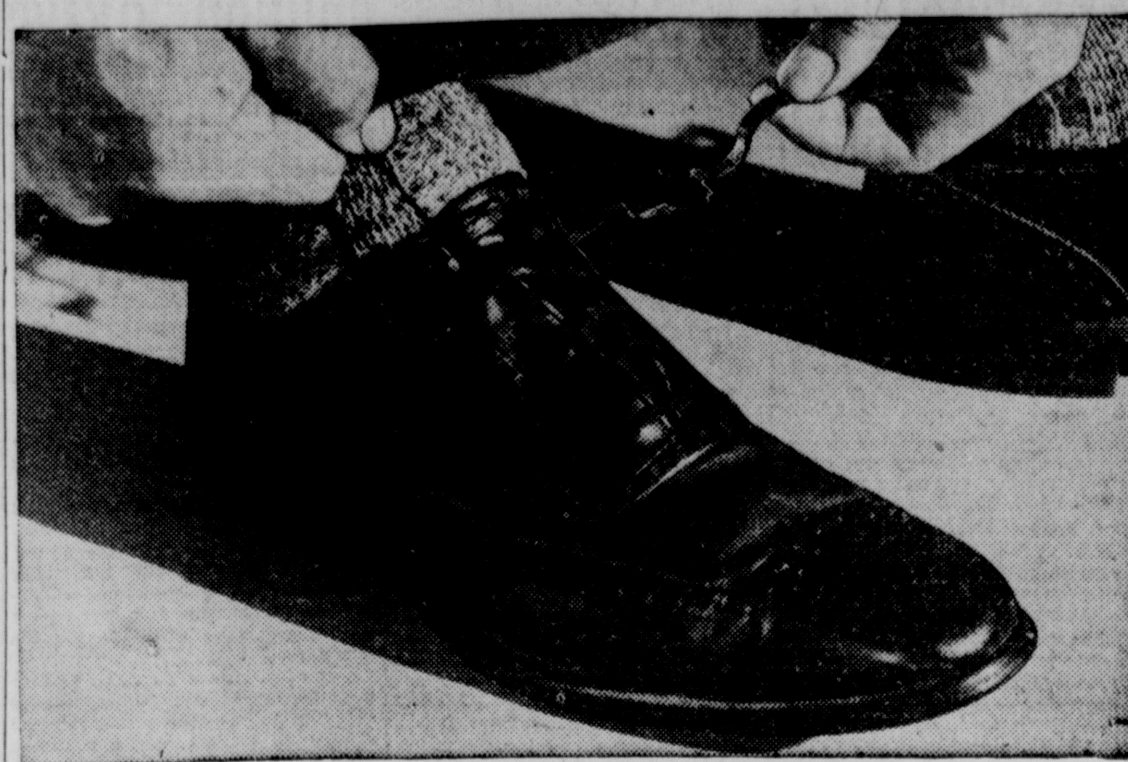

Dr. D. Richmond Ware, from 9 to 10 o'clock, on "Coronary Thrombosis—Management and Treatment."

Just about the biggest and tallest man to pass through the local court and the Orange county jail was "floated" out of town this morning.

The man, who gave his name as E. B. Tippit, 45, was arrested by Officers C. V. Adams and J. W. Foster on a drunkenness charge last evening at 6 o'clock. He was reported to have been asleep at the wheel of his car on North Flower street.

At the county jail, Tippit's height was taken at 6 feet 7 1/2 inches, setting a new record for height among prisoners. His weight was approximately 300 pounds. He was a "Big Man," according to officers.

Tippit said he was enroute to Bakersfield, when taken before Police Judge J. G. Mitchell, and he was given a jail sentence, which was suspended on condition that he leave town immediately.

NATIONAL WHIRLIGIG

-- News Behind the News --

WASHINGTON
By PAUL MALLON

PUMP WORK—

President Roosevelt has publicly sworn off pump-priming, but a lot of government money is going to go down into many business wells during the next three months.

Take the quiet moving CCC, for instance. No one pays much attention to it, but its unannounced program calls for an expenditure of forty-two to forty-five million dollars a month during June, July and August.

For one thing, the book is supposed to lay a path rather roughly across the back of Lew Douglas, the former budget director of the New Deal, whose speeches lately have been reading copy over Mr. Lickes here. If those persons who have been reading copy over Mr. Lickes should be to be believed, the book will say that Douglas was so dead set against government expenditures, he once urged the president to spend any of the original relief funds appropriated by congress.

The law appropriating the money did not specifically require the president to spend it.

WAGES—

Labor leaders have cooled off somewhat since they discovered that the new relief wage rate schedule is not exactly what it was announced to be.

The cooling was accomplished when Miss Perkins and Harry Hopkins privately explained the published announcement in a private session with building trades labor leaders. The wide-around work, and the application of lowest rates to only a remote special class of unskilled labor was then pointed out.

Labor Secretary Perkins is supposed to have received a pledge that there will be no strikes due to that situation.

WORKS—

The PWA pump handle operated by Mr. Lickes has been shortened under this new relief set-up. But it has not been thrown away, as advertised. Unpublished estimates by relief authorities indicate almost $2,000,000,000 (nearly half) of the new Walker-Lickes-Hopkins expenditures will eventually go for materials.

Industries to be benefited most will be cement, lumber, steel, gravel, pipe, glass, asphalt, stone, tools. The outpouring for materials in the coming quarter is expected to be roads $120,000,000; grade crossings $180,000,000; flood control, $76,000,000; non-federal $85,000,000; rural aid $30,000,000. The total is $471,000,000.

Add on the CCC expenditures and you will find that nearly $600,000,000 of extra supplies will be purchased by the government during the coming supposedly slack summer quarter year.

LABOR—

If you look into these figures you will find the labor key to the new relief program. The old program spent three times as much for materials as for labor, because of heavy projects involved (big dams, etc.) The new projects will be of lighter type, so labor probably will get slightly more than half the money.

SOUP'S OVER—

The alphabet soup is to have no more ingredients, no more XYZ's and ABC's. The president made that plain the other day to a caller who recommended the establishment of the new national labor relation board as an independent agency. Emphatically he said he wanted no more new agencies of government. Any move to set up the board outside would meet with White House disapproval, for that reason.

If you look up the soup's history you will find that Mr. Roosevelt has put fifty new government organizations into it since he started. The actual figure is sixty, but there is some duplication.

This trend away from soup enlargement can be noted in the new relief set-up. In it Mr. Roosevelt is using about sixty existing government agencies, but is creating only three new ones—Dr. Tugwell's resettlement remedy administration, the rural electrification administration, and the advisory committee on allotments.

CONFESSIONS—

Mr. Lickes is writing a new book. It is not just another book explaining how good the New Deal is.

His associates predict it will be a scorching, telling the inside history of the PWA. If it tells all, it will be, but that is too much to expect just yet.

ally. His drive for his banking bill will certainly boomerang. These incidents don't exactly enhance his stature as a major political force.

A point worth noting is that the National Union has nowhere to go politically if it doesn't play with the president. Coughlin has disavowed Third Party intentions. He can't work with the Republicans and they wouldn't have him if he could. That means he must either follow FDR (and Mr. Roosevelt will refuse to woo his support) or defeat him for the Democratic nomination in '36. As to this possibility, ask yourself "with whom" and you can gauge his chances for success. Don't forget either that plenty of people are watching for the psychological moment to do some intensive sawing when his limb gets shaky enough.

INEFFECTUAL

There's one school of New York thought which holds the deflation is much more likely than inflation in the next few months. Their argument is based on the premise that NRA will be effectively dead after June 15th—which they figure will be true even if it gets a nine-month period of grace. In that case there will be a price-cutting deluge in many industries with pronounced deflationary effects.

PROBLEM

Life insurance companies are not among those who expect deflation. Several of the big ones are privately pulling all the wires they can find to have the legal restrictions on their investments broadened so they can buy dividend-paying common stocks. They want this privilege partly as a hedge against inflation. But even more pressing is the problem of what to do with millions of dollars in idle cash with high grade bond yields so fantastically

low. There are times when it's quite a problem to make money make money.

CLING

The Post Office is trying to solve an involved riddle—is General Motors violating the air mail law? The law provides that no corporation whose principal business is holding the stock of other companies and none which is engaged in any phase of the aviation industry shall own stock in any corporation which holds an air mail contract. General Motors owns 13 per cent of TWA, 30 per cent of North American Aviation (Eastern Air Lines) and 25 per cent of Bendix Aviation. The Post Office figures that GM might be either a holding company or in the industry through its Bendix connection—but it isn't quite sure.

There will be a whale of a row if General Motors is ordered to dispose of its stock in TWA and North American. Too many people are waiting to grab it at forced sale prices. GM's stake in aviation is relatively small and so far unprofitable but evidently it craves to cling to it.

SIDELIGHTS

Preventive against gangs of hecklers... No more than four tickets were sold to any individual for Father Coughlin's New York meeting... Compo Shoe Machinery is the smallest company listed by the Stock Exchange in years... It has only 150,000 shares outstanding.

that add to the joy of camping is to go on an afternoon camping trip in your own back yard, according to R. C. Harness, local manager of the Western Auto Supply company, who maintains a complete camp goods department at the Santa Ana store.

"By setting up camp at home, one has an opportunity to take a thorough inventory of his camping equipment and fishing tackle, thus determining which things need replacing and which can be repaired and which are in usable shape," Harness said. "Through this precaution, one avoids the embarrassing experience of being miles from a source of supply when he realizes that some of his equipment is in poor shape, or that some of the essentials have been loaned, or lost and forgotten.

"Since your tent will be your outdoor home, you will want it to be in first class condition.

"In setting up the tent, be sure that no corners are torn and that all ropes and loops are intact. It is also advisable to inspect the poles and stakes to be sure they are still usable.

"Put up the camp bed, and see that it is ready for use. Mattress and bedding ought to be sunned and aired well after a year in the garage. He also suggests that the camp stove and lantern be set up and lighted, and allowed to burn a while to be sure they are in working order.

"About the only concern of the camper who enjoys his outings is the protection of the forests. Forestry regulations require campers to carry a sharp axe and shovel of prescribed size, their purpose being to keep camp grounds clean and fires buried."

Other things that should be given careful consideration are the cooking equipment, the folding camp table and chairs and the canteen, the Western Auto Manager adds.

FLYING AROUND With Dale Deckert

Carson Smith of the Reliance Title company told me recently that his secretary reported two hours late for work one Monday morning, and explained her lateness by the fact that she had just arrived from Mexico City. When she left the office Saturday noon, she had an opportunity to fly to Mexico City and back with an aviator friend from Los Angeles. Quite a contrast to 20 years ago when a weekend trip to Los Angeles was a big event, requiring careful planning and preparation!

According to my system of grapevine information, wedding bells are about to ring for a couple of local pilots answering to the names of Joe and Bill. We regret to see these ace pilots taken out of circulation; however, it gives us pleasure to congratulate the boys, and at the same time, offer condolences to the rest of the fair sex in Orange county.

Ground school will start at the Martin airport next Friday night with R. H. Drake as the instructor. The course consists of airplane rigging, meteorology, navigation, and air commerce rules and regulations. The class will meet each Friday night for approximately 20 weeks.

Hangar gossip from the Martin airport... Aguilera Delfino, Mexican youth, made his "solo" flight last week after six hours instruction from Floyd Martin... Floyd predicts that he will be Mexico's Lindbergh of the future... Harold Willis of Santa Ana is the newest cub student learning to fly... Eddie Martin returned from Mobile, Ala., with a Ryan B 1 cabin monoplane which he purchased for carrying passengers at the airport... It will be shown locally, free of charge, in the near future... Happy Landings!

H. S. YEARBOOK TO BE ISSUED FIFTH OF JUNE

Santa Ana High school's yearbook, The Ariel, will be distributed Wednesday, June 5, according to Robert Forcey, editor-in-chief.

Four hundred books have already been sold, and more are on sale. According to staff members, the book is unique in that many new features are embodied in its make-up. New type, spiral binding, leadoff pictures, and a new shape are some of these features. Although the theme of the annual will not be revealed until the time of distribution, it was stated it is a timely one.

Forcey also revealed that the high school print shop has printed the book, while only the engraving and binding have been done by private companies. All work is done by the students. The Earl A. Gray company is doing the binding, while the Santa Ana Engraving company is doing the engraving.

The cover of The Ariel is two-toned in red and black colors, with silver printing. The book is spiral-bound, and printed on a high-grade paper.

Staff members include Robert Forcey, editor-in-chief; Miss Margaret Munro, associate editor; Miss Audrey Grannas, assistant editor; Miss Jane Hill, art editor; Vic Rowland, business manager; Miss Beulah Purkey, literary editor; Roger Fuller, activity editor; Bill Hawkins, senior editor; Miss Nina June Robertson, fine arts editor; Miss Jean Rueter, snapshot editor; Conley Kemper, boys' athletics; Miss Nadine Pennington, girls' athletics; Walt Cullen, photographer and assistant business manager; Delbert Tucker, assistant business manager; Miss Dora Lloyd, calendar editor; Roy Potter, alumnae editor; Miss Evelyn Coffman, typist; Matt Brown, Herman Quick, Misses Betty Mae West, Evelyn June Hammett, Mary Ellen Dudley, Ruth Johnson, Katherine McDermott, and Louise Ryel, art staff.

Mrs. Elizabeth Thomas is the art adviser, Miss M. Elizabeth Wyant, literary adviser, and M. V. Newcomer, business manager.

To Hold Mass Meeting On Housing Program Tonight

EXPECT LARGE CROWD AT BIG PUBLIC MEET

Arrangements were completed today to care for a large crowd to-night at the Willard Junior High school auditorium, when the first Santa Ana FHA mass meeting will be held commencing at 7:30 o'clock.

According to Robert Hatfield, vice chairman of the local FHA committee, the meeting is for the purpose of acquainting the public with specific details of the Federal Housing Act, and the manner in which it operates.

Such things will be discussed as the manner in which to make applications, rules of eligibility, rates of interest and length of the loans, and a description of all of the provisions of the act. FHA officials from Los Angeles will be present to explain the act to the audience.

W. A. Harris, of Los Angeles, will be one of the main speakers, and will be assisted by several others. The meeting is being sponsored by the adult education department of Santa Ana schools.

Included on the program will be musical numbers by the SERRA orchestra, which will play an overture and a short program of specialty numbers, under the direction of Leon Eckles, conductor, and several musical numbers by Edward Klein, xylophonist.

Hatfield, who will be in charge of the meeting, said today that the subject matter of the discussions is of inestimable importance to all home owners, and especially to those who wish in the next several months or so to do remodeling or redecorating.

"Every effort will be made to show the public how prosperity can be assisted in returning," Hatfield said, "and how the building industry, as well as the home owner himself, can profit from the FHA program."

The meeting is the climax of the educational program instituted some time ago by FHA officials. A motion picture will be shown during the evening's program.

To Give Out Fair Trips On Thursday

Although The Register will publish early on Memorial Day Thursday, the business offices will stay open until noon to give out tickets to the California-Pacific International exposition which persons participating in the all-expense paid trip plan have earned simply by obtaining four new two-month subscriptions to the Santa Ana Register, Circulation Manager R. M. Conklin announced today.

Conklin reminded interested persons that there are but three days left before it will be too late for those who are planning to take advantage of the wonderful opportunity to see the Exposition without cost to do so.

The Register's special train will leave here at 7 o'clock Friday morning, taking a gay throng from this section who have tickets to the Exposition and who will see all the big features of the Exposition without the necessity of spending a cent. The train will leave from San Diego at 9 p. m. Friday after Register readers have spent a glorious, care-free day at the Exposition.

The Register plan gives a trip to and from San Diego on the special train, transportation to and from the Exposition grounds, admission to famous concessions, luncheon in the famous Zoological Gardens, a tour through the Gardens and dinner—all for just securing four two-month subscriptions to The Register.

It's not too late now, so why don't you get four of your friends to subscribe to the Santa Ana Register for two months, so you can take advantage of this extraordinary opportunity?

STUDENT LOAN BENEFIT EVENT HERE SATURDAY

Ninety students of Vera Merilyn Getty will appear in a dance recital featuring tap, ballet, acrobatic, toe and specialty dances, as a benefit for the Santa Ana High School student loan fund Saturday evening at 8 o'clock. It was announced today. The program will be given in the Willard Junior High school auditorium.

As a guest artist the "Talent Tots" will present Solita, said to be one of the Southland's most authentic Spanish dancers, in a special group. Nye James Martin, 12-year-old singer, will give several solo numbers.

Miss Lola Marie Harmon will act as mistress of ceremonies, and will appear in two numbers arranged for her by Miss Getty. Music for the production will be furnished by Janet Martin and her orchestra.

Students who will appear in solo numbers include the Misses June Tway, Mary Louise Leinberger, Velma Stroud, Lucille Lambert, Mary Ellen Squires, Carolyn Wells and Yvonne Slacket, and in the senior group David MacMullan, Lucella Swartz, Fredda Graves, Jerry Newsum, Anita Hendricks, Jane Connor, Marjory Park, Maurine Waters, Eloise Jacobs and Lorraine Seavy.

A group of 12 three-year-old children will appear in several specialty songs and dances, and the Cizek twins, Gordon and LaRue, will give a tap duet.

Lighting effects for the production have been arranged by Hazel Nell Bemus, and a public address system installed through the courtesy of Clyde Musgrave. Tickets, which are nominally priced, are on sale at the Santa Ana Book store.

Hold 5 To Answer In 'Chain' Case

Operation of the recent "fool-proof" prosperity chain office, as constituted criminal conspiracy and 605 North Main street last Monday constituted criminal conspiracy and pooling or bookmaking, according to the findings of K. E. Morrison, justice of the peace.

Five persons were held to answer to superior court by Judge Morrison yesterday afternoon at conclusion of their preliminary examination on the conspiracy charge. The ball of Nat James and C. B. Brockett, two of the defendants, was reduced from $5000 to $1000, and the three women, Marion Ruth Smith, Mrs. Louise Burghart, and Mrs. Helen Buchanan, were released on their own recognizance.

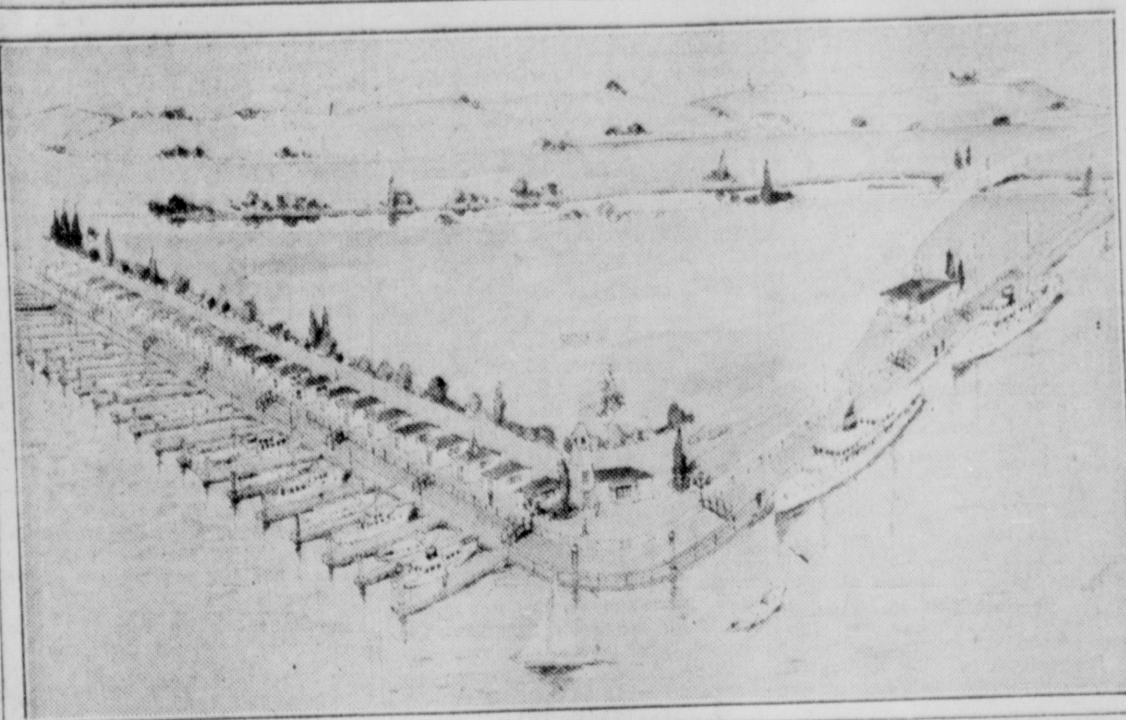

It was mathematically impossible to fulfill the 9-for-1 promise of the "prosperity club" promoters, for out of 900 participating only 100 could win and 800 would get nothing. It was declared by City Attorney L. W. Blodgett, who was associated with District Attorney S. B. Kaufman in prosecuting the case, despite the numerous objections of Otto Jacobs and Forest Smith, attorneys for the defendants.

Approximately one-half of the money handed into the prosperity club's office at 605 North Main street by the "foolish minded" people of Orange county was being mailed to the chain promoters and other foreign addresses in Los Angeles, Hollywood, Glendale and other outside cities, and the only chance of anyone "winning" was that the "sucker list" would be long enough, according to District Attorney Kaufman.

In announcing his decision in the case, Justice Morrison said a check of the chain's card system showed that 150 cards had been posted, with 320 slips not posted, while only $260.51 remained to be distributed as evidence that the 9-for-1 plan could not work.

YACHT MOORINGS IN HARBOR

Below is shown an artist's idea of how the big harbor development program planned by James Irvine, landed Orange county rancher, will appear when the construction work planned is completed. While the details of the plan shown may not be followed to the letter, the picture below gives a concrete idea of the scope of the program to construct yacht moorings in Newport Harbor and to develop the harbor beyond the present government plans. The yacht moorings shown below would be located south of the state highway bridge and east of the channel leading to the upper bay.

S.A. CHAMBER OF COMMERCE INAUGURATES HOSPITALITY POLICY; GREET'S NEWCOMERS

Part of the comprehensive program being undertaken by the hospitality committee of the Santa Ana Chamber of Commerce was started today as the committee began sending out letters to new residents and visitors in Santa Ana. Rex Kennedy is chairman of the committee.

The letter to new residents expresses an important business and professional center.

"Whenever you return to California either as a tourist or a prospective new resident, we invite you to call at the offices of the chamber of commerce. It shall be our pleasure to serve you to the best of our ability in the way of information, hospitality. Under separate cover we are mailing you a booklet of pictures and information covering Orange county. If we can serve you further in any way, please feel free to call upon us."

The letter to visitors after they have returned to their homes says: "During your recent visit to California you made a stop at Santa Ana in Orange county. We trust that your visit was pleasant and that you were served ably and faithfully by the business and professional people whom you may have contacted."

"We want to thank you for your visit to Santa Ana. This city is the heart of the vast valencia orange producing and shipping. Including oranges, oil, dairying, walnuts and other products of the soil, Orange county's annual income averages $50,000,000. It is reputed to be the richest county in America."

"Perhaps we can be of service by putting you in touch with organizations which you were connected with in the community you came from. You may wish to contact a church, service club, lodge, woman's club, county, city or school authority. In any of these things, we will give you assistance to the best of our ability."

"Towns have character the same as individuals. We hope that Santa Ana has the character of a friendly town. It is our desire to help build a more friendly and helpful community. If as a newcomer, you have noticed some service or attention in which we are remiss, will you not kindly leave your suggestion at the chamber of commerce office? We feel sure you will find this is not only a friendly community, but

SET DATES FOR JAYCEE EVENTS AT GRADUATION

Baccalaureate services for Santa Ana Junior College graduates will be held June 9 in the First Methodist church at 4:20 p. m., and commencement will take place June 13 in Birch park at 4 p. m., it was announced today by McKee Pisk, Jaycee dean.

W. R. Henley of the University of Southern California will speak at baccalaureate, and Dr. James W. Fifield Jr., pastor of the First Congregational church of Los Angeles will present the commencement address.

Other portions of the baccalaureate program will include an organ recital beginning at 4:15 p. m., by Allan Revell, member of the music department faculty at Santa Ana Junior college; and music by a Capella choir, under the direction of Miss Myrtle Martin, Jaycee music head.

The commencement program will include in addition to the address, music by the college glee clubs, directed by Miss Myrtle Martin, and the Jaycee orchestra, led by Leland Auer. Presentation of awards and recognition of honor students will also be included in the program, Pisk announced.

More than $400,000 is to be spent at the Rhode Island State airport for further improvements to the drainage system and terrain.

FILING OFFICE FOR FHA AID IS OPENED

J. E. Hoblit, who has been training for the past week in the Los Angeles Federal Housing offices on matters relative to the FHA, was located in the Santa Ana Chamber of Commerce offices today.

Hoblit, whose duties will include helping all interested persons or firms in filing applications under the housing act, will be in Santa Ana at the chamber offices on Thursday, Friday and Saturday, and in the evenings by appointment.

ORANGE BOY WINS VIOLIN CONTEST

John Hart Stout, of 132 West Walnut avenue, Orange, captured first place in the Elsteddoff music contest held Saturday in Los Angeles, for the third successive year. He is 13 years old, and plays a violin made by his father.

Miss Opal Ruth Dargatz, of 1327 West Second street, Santa Ana, took second place in the contest, and another Santa Ana student, Miss Charlotte Stafford of 1104 West First street, captured first place in the competitions for older students. Miss Stafford is concert master of the Santa Ana high school orchestra.

Walter Long of Anaheim placed second in the division for older students, and Mary Hinzler of Anaheim took third place. All are pupils of Vladimir Leneki, Costa Mesa violinist, who teaches at the Anaheim conservatory of music.

John Stout will be heard as soloist with the Santa Ana band at the San Diego fair, and will play several numbers at the fair

Notice to Surplus Food Card Holders Given By Halloran

Unofficial notice received at the Orange county SERRA office today indicated that there will be no new federal surplus foods in the county for June, Director Terrence H. Halloran said today.

Holdings of surplus commodities cards should not present them in June until notified by the commissary distribution office.

GREEK NEWSPAPER EDITOR TO TALK

Dr. Adamantios Theophilus Polyzoides, editor and publisher of a Greek newspaper, will be the main speaker at the annual alumni banquet of the Tavern Tatters, Santa Ana Junior college literary club, when they meet at the Doris-Kathryn Tea shoppe tonight.

Other portions of the program will include talks by alumni of the college who were members of Tavern Tatters.

A Frenchman named Cordeau, in 1902, took out a patent on the application of an electric bell to an automobile.

ASKS DIVORCE

Mrs. Melcena Harris charged desertion in a suit for divorce, filed yesterday in superior court against Harry H. Harris, whom she married in Santa Ana July 26, 1925. They separated March 1, 1934. Mrs. Harris asks custody of their son, aged 5.

With Miss Olive Schweitzer, 13-year-old Santa Ana pianist. He will also play with Miss Sally Coe of Orange in a recital concert to be given soon.

Dinner Club Meets for Monthly Session of Contract

An interesting little group of friends who meet to dine and entertain at play bridge, was entertained at the end of the week in the Roy H. Winchester home, 414 Harwood Place, with the customary dinner hour which gives the organization its name of "Pot-luck club."

Mrs. Winchester used pottery in vivid shades for serving the inviting dinner courses, employing matching candlesticks with candles as brilliant in color. Contract was introduced for the after-dinner card session, resulting in victory for the hosts, Mr. and Mrs. Winchester, who according to club rules, who according to the general prize, received the general prize. Guest prize went to Mrs. Theodore Rolte holding the evening's high score.

Membership in the "Pot-luck club" is composed of Mr. and Mrs. Roy H. Winchester, Mr. and Mrs. Harry LeBar, Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Cave and Mr. and Mrs. John Swank. Special guests at this latest meeting were Mr. and Mrs. Rolte and Mr. and Mrs. Neil Stanley.

Surprise Party Held in Laguna Beach

As a surprise on her birthday anniversary, Miss Nadine Mason was honored Sunday evening, when her sister, Miss Dorothy Mason entertained with a party in their home, 422 Gleneyre street, Laguna Beach. Mrs. B. B. Mason assisted her daughter in entertaining a group of guests from Santa Ana and other cities.

Prizes in the first game in a series were awarded Miss Miriam Samuelson, high; Miss Mildred Pence, second; and Miss Donna Stinson, low. In another contest, Miss Mary Burns was awarded first prize. Guests then grouped themselves about the honoree, who was privileged to open a lovely assortment of gifts.

For the supper hour in the dining room guests were seated at one long table, appointed in pink and yellow. Nutcrs in pink and yellow marked each place, while the centerpiece was of blooms in the same tints. Birthday cake iced in pink and lighted with pink and white tapers was served with strawberry mousse as the last of two courses.

Present were Miss Mildred Staples; Irvine; Mrs. Bruce Vegely, Artesia; Mrs. Arthur Gillespie, Huntington Beach; Mrs. Herbert Meyer and Miss Miriam Samuelson, Santa Ana; and the Misses Donna Stinson, Marjory Burns, Bonnie Fox, Viva Goff, Jeanne Purpus, Mildred Pence, Miriam Pence, and the honoree and hostess, the Misses Nadine and Dorothy Mason, all of Laguna Beach. The Misses Vera McDonald and Doris Thurston were unable to be present.

Contemporary History Books, Plays Summarized by Speaker

Prefaced by a business session conducted by Mrs. Charles V. Davis, president, yesterday's meeting of the Iphigeneia society served to renew a friendship of long standing between a club organization and an artist when Lillian Burkhardt Goldsmith was presented in a review of current books, events and plays.

In the opening session, various announcements were made including that of Mrs. Frank Patterson, curator, who called attention to the request for formation of an arts and crafts section, and asked anyone interested in membership, to notify her promptly in order to complete formation in time to have recognition in the new year books.

Mrs. Emrys D. White, delegate to the recent state convention in Del Monte, also district chairman of juniors, an office to which she has been returned, reported on the convention sessions. She dwelt on the value of the forums and their wide range of discussion subjects and spoke of some of the leading clubwomen present. Mrs. Robert J. Burdette, "mother of the federation," Mrs. Herbert Hoover and Dr. Mariana Bertala, she also explained that Santa Ana Iphigeneia's prized trophy for outstanding club project of the district, was a valuable etching, now being framed to hang on the clubhouse walls. This was awarded in recognition of the value of the Day Nursery project.

Miss Goldsmith, who used to appear frequently before the society in the days when it had no club home and met in Elks hall, seemed like an old friend to members of long standing, and at the close of her program, assumed that same status among newer friends. For her conclusions were refreshing, and her personality that of vital type that reaches across the footlights directly to the audience.

She devoted the opening interval to a summary of present world conditions, contrasting the different views of prominent writers. Some of these declare that the world is moving rapidly towards chaos, others that we have now reached the turn of the tide which will sweep us towards a new golden age. That Mrs. Goldsmith's own views are more in accord with the latter, seemed determined by her climax when she declared that America is like David crying in the wilderness for God to hear, and that in spite of prophecies of disaster, if we have faith to know and to turn to God for direction in seeking a new spiritual dimension, the way out will be discovered.

Between her opening remarks and her final summary, she dwelt briefly on a succession of books and gave a dramatic play review, "Road to War" (Walter Nullis), the Book of the Month choice, headed the list and was given high praise during which she discussed the Versailles Treaty as directly responsible for the present evils in Germany. This treaty she characterized as a "hymn of hate," which economists and thinkers today decry.

Other books on her list were "Parents Look at Modern Education," portraying tremendous strides in modern educational methods; "Blind Men Crossing a Bridge" (Susan Miles) declared an excellent work in flowing style, but not the "sublime fiction" that many reviewers claim for it; "Farewell to Revolution" (Everett Dean Martin) which she praised without reservations; "Gerald—A Portrait," Daphne Du Maurier's biography of her father, with its unforgettable picture of family life.

Thomas Wolfe's "Of Time and the River," she characterized as over-written although such a distinct contribution to modern literature that it will live when Sinclair Lewis, Theodore Dreiser and Ernest Hemingway and their books are forgotten. She spoke of the majestic sweep of deep water which is gained from "Roll River" by James Boyd; of the charm and exciting qualities of Enid Bagnold's "National Velvet," and the humor and gaiety of Fannie Hurst's "No Food With Your Mouth."

But it was in her review of the Pulitzer prize story, "The Old Maid," Zoe Akins' dramatization of Edith Wharton's classic, that she rose to real dramatic heights. It was easy to visualize her days of stardom in the legitimate theater as she gave short bits of the play with a running comment on the plot, its development and climax, and the characters that make its episodes come to life.

The entire afternoon exemplified Mrs. Goldsmith's method of reviewing books and the theater, by giving brief outlines of each book

Sorority Initiation Precedes Dinner Dance

Formal initiation ceremonies in this city were followed by a dance at Hotel Roosevelt, Hollywood, for members and guests of Sigma Tau Psi sorority who took part in a recent affair arranged in compliance to three initiatives.

The Misses Marjorie Berkner, Lucille Howell and Harriet Chapin became members of the group at an effective service conducted in the home of the Misses Alyce and Mary Emil Majors, 1811 North Flower street. Yellow roses and other decorations were used in carrying out the sorority's green and yellow colors.

Summary formal worn by the members, and white Palm Beach suits worn by their escorts made the local group one of the most attractive parties of dancers at Hotel Roosevelt. Dinner was served to precede dancing.

Elaborate Observance Is Given Golden Wedding Event

Sunday was a gala occasion in the lives of Mr. and Mrs. Mathias Faccou, 721 1/2 South Flower street, for it brought the golden anniversary of their wedding, an event occurring in Odense, Denmark, their native land, on May 24, 1885. Appropriate celebration was given the day, not only by the family circle but by St. Peter Lutheran church, to which Mr. and Mrs. Faccou belong.

Festivities began with a family breakfast in the home of their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. S. F. Sorenson, 820 South Van Ness avenue, to which a few close family friends also were bidden. Breakfast was served in the garden, and every flower seemed to be blooming especially for the occasion.

Attendance at morning church services followed, and there Mr. and Mrs. Faccou were called to the altar by the pastor, the Rev. H. W. Meyer, and with them were Mr. and Mrs. S. M. Miel, who on Thursday will celebrate a similar happy occasion. Mr. and Mrs. H. P. Lykke, who on December 7, observed their golden wedding anniversary, served as attendants. The Rev. Mr. Meyer presented a handsome basket of flowers to each of the two honored couples, gift of the congregation.

In the afternoon reception was held in the home of their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Anderson, 1210 South Ross street, and the celebration reached its climax with a family dinner party in the Doris Kathryn home, with some fifty guests entertained.

At the reception, guests were privileged to inspect the many handsome gifts presented Mr. and Mrs. Faccou, and were especially interested in the great cluster of red roses sent by their son, William Faccou of Copenhagen, Denmark. Another daughter, Mrs. E. Egeland, also lives in Copenhagen. Mr. and Mrs. Faccou lived in Denmark until 1919 when they came to this country to visit, and decided to remain. They came to Santa Ana the following year and have made it their home ever since.

For the wedding anniversary, Mrs. Faccou was gowned in black crepe with gold lace and wore yellow roses to match the golden bouquiers worn by her bridegroom of 50 years. Mrs. Anderson wore a smart silk crepe in powder blue with pink slippers; Mrs. Sorenson was gowned in blue; Mrs. Harold Faccou in yellow; Mrs. Walter Sorenson in pale green with cerise lace, and Mrs. Armand Faccou in black lace.

Two young granddaughters, the Misses Arline Sorenson in peacock blue crepe, and Barbara Faccou in cloud blue crepe, served refreshments from a lace spread table centered with golden yellow roses.

Members of the family present for the day's events in addition to Mr. and Mrs. Faccou were Mr. and Mrs. Paul Anderson and sons, Raymond, Bobby and Donald; Mr. and Mrs. Walter Sorenson and sons, Walter Jr. and Harold; Mr. and Mrs. Soren Sorenson and children, Kenneth, Walter, Arlene and Soren Jr.; Mr. and Mrs. Harold Faccou and children, Howard and Barbara; Mrs. Christine Faccou and sons, Armand Jr. and Harlan; Mr. and Mrs. Edward Schultz and children, Gloria, Teddy and Bুদ্ধ. Joining them at the dinner hour were Mrs. Arline Sorenson, H. P. Lykke, Messrs. and Mesdames H. P. Lykke, Andrew Hays, Andrew Lykke, L. Selmer, Sorenson, Sophie Hansen and children, Genevieve and Armand, Santa Ana; Mr. and Mrs. M. Nilsson and Miss Laura Nilsson, Pasadena; Mr. and Mrs. P. H. Lassen and Miss Alice Lassen and Peter Ebbesen, Hollywood.

At the afternoon reception in addition to this group were Messrs. and Mesdames Walter C. Dunlap, John H. Holly, W. B. Reuter, Tommy Thompson, J. W. Sneykal, M. E. Hayes, N. J. Peterson, R. C. McMillan, P. G. Baisel, O. T. Moore, John P. Dohmer, Paul Ladiges, Vernon D. Cox, R. J. Delinger, E. M. Lykke, Fred G. Merkle, Carl H. Lykke, Carl Edgar, Al-Hison Honer, A. H. Kraft, Ellis P. Wagner, Miss Mary Hansen, Nora Anderson, Messrs Peter Hansen, Emil Anderson, P. E. Lonon, H. F. Klausenmeyer, Almer Erickson, and A. B. McKean.

Informal Luncheon is Compliment To Ebell Entertainer

Since Mrs. F. E. Coulter, program chairman of Ebell society, was privileged to have as her luncheon guest yesterday, Lillian Burkhardt Goldsmith, featured speaker on the Ebell society program, she took the occasion to ask a few friends to share the luncheon interval with them.

It was a very informal little gathering in the Coulter home, 826 South Ross street. Guests were confined to Miss Lula Minter, long associated with Mrs. Coulter in arranging programs for Ebell lecture course, Mrs. Clarence Gustlin, Miss Ellen Sneyley and Eleanor Young Elliott.

A chosen decorative theme of scarlet and silver seemed a happy inspiration on the part of the hostess, for Mrs. Goldsmith, arriving in Santa Monica and a morning program there, was wearing a smart costume whose frock was of deep red with black redingote and wide brimmed black hat. Deep red snapdragons spilled from a silver bowl in the center of the table, spread with Italian cutwork luncheon squares, and grouped around the flowers were stately ribbons in silver blown glass. Conversation was gay and stimulating, and guests heard with interest, some of Mrs. Burkhardt's amusing contrepans as a public speaker, before leaving for the clubhouse for the afternoon program.

Mothers Provide Topic For Pierian Program

Holding their latest meeting in the home of Mrs. Jennie Crawford, 829 South Ross street, Pierian club members presented a program on "Mother."

Each member had written verses or articles for the event. Mrs. Henry Guthrie gave "Tribute to Mothers," after which Mrs. Colleen Clark read editorial articles and verses in connection with child welfare work to which her life has been devoted.

Mrs. George Bond read a child story, "Strange Mothers" and two poems, "My Mother" and "With Mother There." Mrs. Hugh Gerard contributed verses, "Recollections of Childhood," Mrs. Jacob Bohlander read poems, "A Lament" and "The Heart of a Rose." Mrs. Crawford, "Angels of Earth" and "Mother's Love"; Mrs. J. D. Watkins, a reading, "Mumsy."

Mrs. Crawford served a dessert course at the close of the affair.

"FLATTERY" EASILY ACQUIRED IN SLENDERIZING SUMMERY PRINT FROCK PATTERN 2319
By ANNE ADAMS

The balmy May days give a hint of the warm weather just around the corner! And that brings us to the problem every woman of generous proportions must cope with—how to keep cool and fresh looking on those warm days? Well—Looking Good goes a long way, and pattern 2319 with its loose, easy cape sleeve, soft treated waistline gives you a mighty cool outlook on life! And very flattering, too, are the graceful folds of the cape that does wonders to equalize proportions. The darts over the bust and at the waistline cleverly contrive to avoid a too-fitted look at the strategic points. Pick a summery printed voile or other sheer.

Pattern 2319 is available in sizes 16, 18, 20, 22, 24, 26, 28, 30, 32, 34, 36, 38, 40, 42, 44 and 46. Size 36 takes 3 1/2 yards 39 inch fabric. Illustrated step-by-step sewing instructions included.

THE TIMMIES

It kept on raining hard, and Timmy and his friends were not one bit in the crowd. "Thank goodness for this funny tree," said Doty, with a smile.

"I've never seen a tree like this. It is a sight I wouldn't miss. We'll stay right where we are till it stops raining, after while."

Then Scouty said, "How did this tree grow in this shape? It puzzles me. A gnome replied, 'Just blame it on a band of queer gnomes.'"

"They lived here years ago, I'm told. They planted it. It's very old. Strange seeds were put into the ground, and up came bumper-shoots."

"The shoots kept growing, day and night. It must have been a real nice sight to see them spread until they formed into umbrella trees."

Just then a crack of thunder broke, and Duncy said, "This is no joke. A storm like this one scares me. I am shaky at the knees."

"Aw, you're a baby," Doty said. "Why don't you be real brave, instead of whimpering? The thunder will not do one bit of harm."

"As long as we all can keep dry, we're safe until the storm goes by." "She is right," a wee gnome added. "There is no cause for alarm."

"In fact, I wish the lightning man would visit us. He really can do very thrilling tricks by waving both his hands around." The next thing that the Timmies knew, the lightning man came in to view. Said he, "Hello there, little folks. Please tell me where you're bound."

"Most anywhere," said Scouty. "We are out to see what we can see." Ah, ha," replied the strange old man. "I'll bring a treat that's rare."

He said some funny words and then the Timmies were startled when he waved his hands and sent large streaks of lightning through the air.

DEL E. BURRY PRESIDENT OF ORGANIZATION

HUNTINGTON BEACH, May 28.—A consolidation of the chamber of commerce and the Business Men's association was effected last night. The organization is to be known as the chamber of commerce and the new officers are Del E. Burry, president; Lawrence Whitaker, first vice president; Victor Terry, second vice president; Will Gallienne, secretary; Mrs. May S. Jackson, assistant secretary.

The chamber of commerce directors met and amended the by-laws to permit of 30 directors for the ensuing year. Names of new directors were presented by President, D. E. Burry of the Business Men's association. The additional directors are D. E. Burry, Will Gallienne, Herb Wood, Victor Terry, Ray Overacker, N. M. Blaney, Sol H. White, C. J. Niek, A. Chamness, Roy K. Larson, J. S. Farquhar, A. W. Frost, Roy F. Patrick, W. R. Osborn, J. F. Catching. The new officers were then elected.

The officers of the organization together with Willis R. Osborn and J. S. Farquhar were named as a committee to prepare a budget for presentation to the city council next Monday night. The council will be asked to provide the funds for expenses for the year. The directors will meet again next Friday night at Chamber of Commerce headquarters.

Ladies Aid Holds Spanish Luncheon

BUENA PARK, May 28.—Sponsored by the finance section of the Ladies' Aid of the Congregational church, a Spanish luncheon was held recently at the C. L. McComber home, with Mrs. Eleanor Jones, Mrs. G. S. Davis, Mrs. A. Tucker, and Mrs. Gerald McComber assisting with the hostess duties. Favors were made by Miss Lurline Trundy. Tamales were a feature of the luncheon menu. A social afternoon followed.

Others present were Mrs. J. F. Wagg, Mrs. Fred Law, Mrs. L. H. Tanquary, Mrs. W. H. Walling, Mrs. E. A. Kinney, Mrs. W. H. Wahl, Mrs. H. H. Hagersty, Mrs. S. S. ### Mexican School Exercises June 3

WESTMINSTER, May 28.—June 3 has been set as the date of the commencement program of the Mexican school graduates with the program to be held in the local Mexican Methodist church. The commencement program will include the following: Processional march, played by Miss Elsie Franzen, teacher of music in Westminster school; Invocation, the Rev. Castorena, pastor of the Westminster Mexican Methodist church; Introductory address, Orion Bebermeyer, superintendent of Westminster schools; welcome, Joe Rivera; accordion solo, Soledad Mendoza; poem, Lupe Rivera; harmonica trio number by Lupe Rivera, Joe Rivera, Rosenda Vega; vocal duet, Soledad Mendoza and Joe Rivera; harmonica solo, Albert Alacorn; girls' trio, Carmen Caudillo, Modesta Vigil and Mary Vigil; presentation of diplomas by Everett Hyton, president of the Westminster school board.

COSTA MESA PLANS EXHIBIT AT SAN DIEGO EXPOSITION; COMMUNITY PARK CONSIDERED

COSTA MESA, May 28.—Costa Mesa may have an exhibit at the San Diego exposition this summer, according to plans discussed by members of the board of directors of the local chamber of commerce in a meeting in Lions clubhouse Monday night. The entire board will function as a committee to make final arrangements for the project, it was announced by Harold Grauel, president of the organization.

Mrs. George Ragan, secretary of the Friday Afternoon club, reported on plans made for the acquisition of lots near the Woman's clubhouse for a pleasure park. Charles TeWinkle, Dr. C. G. Huston and George Ragan were named as a committee to work out plans for a community recreational ground, which is to include croquet courts and spaces for horse-show pitching.

Directors at the meeting were President Harold Grauel, Secretary Goss Grable, Walter H. Foord, appointed to supervise the work.

NAME JURY ON ART SHOW IN LAGUNA BEACH

LAGUNA BEACH, May 28.—Thomas L. Hunt, Ruth Peabody and Karl Yens, of Laguna, Jack Wilkinson Smith, of Alhambra, and Carl Schmidt, of San Bernardino, all well known members of the Laguna Beach Art association, have been appointed to the jury of selection that will pass upon entries for the June-July show, scheduled to open June 5, according to an announcement at the curator's office.

Recognition of the local art association as an institution maintaining high standards in the matter of professional membership is reflected in the growing number of applications for "artist" membership from out-of-town artists and others hoping to qualify for such a status on the membership rolls. Contrary to a general belief, the mere filing of an application accompanied by a check for the dues, does not make an applicant a member of the association. It was explained. While artists of recognized standing are admitted without any proof of professional ability by the board of directors, those whose works have not been exhibited at well known jury galleries, are required to submit samples of their paintings, inquiries revealed.

Dana Bartlett, nationally known painter, past president of the California Art club, organizer and first president of the California Water Color society, and who served as curator of the Foundation of Western art, has opened a studio at 357 1/2 Coast boulevard, north. He and Mrs. Bartlett expect to make their permanent home in the art colony.

Baroness Lucienne St. Martin, of Paris and New Orleans, now making her home in the village, has an exhibition, featuring dogs in oils, water colors and etchings, at a Los Angeles store.

School Faculty In Dinner Party

BUENA PARK, May 28.—Entertaining with a dinner party at the Brandywine Inn at Pasadena, members of the faculty of the two Buena Park schools and their friends followed the affair by attending the current performance at the Pasadena Community playhouse. The party was arranged by the officers of the teacher group, Miss Elizabeth Berkey, president, and Homer Kreps, secretary-treasurer.

Attending the party were Mr. and Mrs. Roland H. Upton, Mr. and Mrs. Homer Kreps, Miss Kathryn Smith, Miss Katherine Magnusson, Miss Ruth Nonemaker, Miss Jean Travers, Miss Elizabeth Berkey, Mrs. Berkey, Mrs. Martha Landell, Mrs. Georgiana Boyd, Mrs. Lora K. Archer, Everett Berkey, Miss Virginia Arthur, Miss Maxine Harris, Miss Irma Wiese, Miss Mabel Looney, Miss Lurline Trundy, Miss Louise Albright and Mrs. Harriet Albright.

BAND ENTERTAINED

WESTMINSTER, May 28.—Members of the accordion band of Long Beach with their director, J. Verdugo, were guests at a party held in the gardens of the George Shipley home west of Westminster Sunday. Small tables were scattered throughout the gardens and here barbequed meats and beans were served by Mr. and Mrs. Shipley. The guests furnished the remainder of the meal. A program was presented by the band.

Present were Mr. and Mrs. Orion Bebermeyer and son, Mr. and Mrs. Claude Hardesty, Mr. and Mrs. Shipley and family and members of the band and their director, Betty Jo Shipley is a member of the band.

800 ROTARIANS EXPECTED AT LAGUNA BEACH JUNE 28

LAGUNA BEACH, May 28.—More than 800 Rotarians and their wives drawn from all parts of Southern California, are expected to attend a preview of the Festival of Arts, to be staged here on the evening of June 28, it was announced today by Mrs. Marie Ropp, secretary of the Laguna Beach Festival of Arts association.

The preview will be preceded by an old fashioned Southern California barbecue, during which a part of the regular program arranged for the opening day of the festival will be presented. Following the dinner, the Rotarians will assemble at the festival grounds for the presentation of the balance of the program, and for an inspection of the various displays that have been brought together for the big annual show.

The Laguna Beach Rotarians, under direction of A. C. Peterson, newly elected president, will act as hosts to the visiting Rotarians, and committees of the Orange County council of Rotary Clubs, of which Frank D. Hovener, of Laguna Beach, is president, will have charge of arrangements.

PLAY CENTER GETS BACKING OF CIVIC BODY

YORBA LINDA, May 28.—Members of Yorba Linda Chamber of Commerce Monday night expressed themselves as behind the Yorba Linda recreational commission action, a report of George Plumb, chairman, and a talk by Floyd Lindsey, principal of the San Clemente schools.

Considerable discussion from the floor followed the talk and report as to the tax status of the community, and whether funds can be raised, with the result that 60 members attending voiced an opinion, without voting, that the need of a community play center is urgent.

C. E. Simmons presided. The Rev. Joseph Reese opened the session with prayer. Reports were made that four baseball teams are being formed. In addition a northern Orange county team is being sponsored by Hurlis Barton.

George Kellogg reported that he has taken up the problem of having a stop sign placed at Lemon on Lakeview at a corner considered dangerous.

Lindsey was introduced by Mrs. Mabel Plumb, principal of Yorba Linda grammar school, and talked on the guided recreation program at San Clemente, where a combination gymnasium-auditorium is in use for the community.

In the course of his talk he suggested that if boys are in recreational it is because of their formative years put them through lack of adequate care.

In his report on the work of the recreation committee, Plumb told of the development of the recreation park, and of the plans for a gymnasium-auditorium.

Speaking on the plans were J. A. Small, president of the school board, who said funds for building are low; S. N. Rosedale, another member of the school board, who suggested a raise in taxation.

George Kellogg, Austin Marshall, A. H. Casparie, Homer May and others also discussed the need of a community play center.

Mrs. Paine introduced John Christopher of Whittier who presented nine little girl tumblers who entertained the group. Mrs. Paine announced Christopher will be at Yorba Linda schools next fall.

Those who participated in the program were Diana Trimble, Edith Porter, Beverly Downing, Neil, Marian Blackburn, Florence Barmore, Gloria Barnore, John Logue and Frankie Jean Austin.

STANTON, May 28.—A capacity attendance marked the annual fathers' night meeting of the Savanna P. T. A. recently at the schoolhouse. The program featured a play, "Plantation School Days," presented under the direction of Mrs. Grace Green. In the cast were Charles Peters, sr., Charles Peters, jr., C. C. Sowers, Ralph Vipond, George Kitchens, R. A. Minge, Sam Parry, George Trigg, R. D. Gillson, Charles Moolich, sr. and Ray Rowe.

Instrumental numbers were given by Warren Neil, accordion; Joseph Hardy, musical saw; A. J. Carr, cornet; S. E. Parry, vocalist; and Jess and Lynn Arnett, mandolin. Quartet members were Arthur Minge, Sylvester Brown, Charles Peters, sr., and A. J. Carr. The musical portion of the program was under the direction of Miss Nina Duden.

PICNIC STAGED BY BREA GRADE PUPILS

BREA, May 28.—Members of the eighth grade of the Brea grammar school had a full day recently, the first part of which was spent in attending a court trial in Santa Ana and a visit to the county jail.

After dinner they went to Genesha park, where they were guests for the afternoon of the seventh grade pupils of the school. The hostess group was assisted by some of the Brea girls, those going being Mrs. L. J. Mathews, Mrs. John Blystone, Mrs. Ray Wolfe, Mrs. Iva Carey, Mrs. A. Piantoni, Mrs. Earl Doty and Mrs. V. J. Kubin.

Games were in charge of Miss Edith Maxson, music teacher, assisted by Virgil Muzzall, Lois Reed and Frances Warner, Rachel Jean Gale, Florence Himes, Esther Mathews, Frances Warner and Donnie McMahon had charge of table arrangements, employing the class colors of lavender and orchid in the color scheme.

In addition to swimming and other sports, the boys and girls enjoyed a treasure hunt, with Virginia Brown and Alice Arbisio winning special prizes.

Oil Measures Discussed At C. of C. Meet

HUNTINGTON BEACH, May 28.—A discussion of the tidelands drilling measure sponsored by the Gilmore Oil company and the Jergens Oil company was held at the Huntington Beach Chamber of Commerce meeting yesterday, with Mayor Tom B. Talbert presenting arguments against the proposition.

Talbert said the tidelands bill most beneficial to the city would be shelved under the plan, which was to be presented to the supervisors this morning, as Attorney Salisbury, representing Gilmore and Jergens, would ask for a new legislative measure granting the tidelands to the county. Under the plan advocated by the mayor the city would receive three and one-third per cent royalty.

J. P. Greedy of Balboa, discussed the bill providing for a fishing preserve along 40 miles of Orange county coast which will prevent commercial fishing within three miles of the coast along the 40 mile strip. The speaker urged sportsmen to contribute funds for the expense of the fight for the bill before the legislature, stating the commercial fishing interest is fighting against the bill and were well supplied with funds.

Dr. Lawrence Whitaker named C. P. Patton, Frank E. Bundy and J. S. Farquhar as a committee to go before the supervisors to protest against the county making a lease on the tidelands for oil drilling. This action was taken in support of the appeal made by Mayor Talbert in his talk before the chamber.

During his talk Mayor Talbert said that Ted Craig of Brea, speaker of the house, had given his support to the legislative bill favored by the mayor and city council and declared that Representative Craig deserved the thanks of the people of Huntington Beach. Mayor Talbert also said that Senator Nels Edwards and Phil Stanton deserved appreciation for aid in making Hampshire a 100-foot wide highway from Seventeenth street to the Coast highway. Mayor Talbert said that when this street was widened it was to be known as Huntington Beach boulevard from Stanton to the Coast boulevard.

An appraiser named by the state highway commission is to negotiate with property owners for land needed in widening Hampshire from a 60 foot street to 100-foot street. It is the policy of the state highway department, it is stated, to make all new highways 100 feet wide.

Bible Group In Class Session
BUENA PARK, May 28.—Following a brief business session, a program was presented at the meeting of the Love and Service Bible class recently in the Congregational church primary room by the class teacher, Mrs. George W. Corey. Mrs. Corey, with her husband, the Rev. George Corey, have returned to Buena Park after an extended visit with Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Corey, in Santa Ana. Substitutes conducted the class during Mrs. Corey's absence.

Honorees at the birthday table were Mrs. Corey, Mrs. C. E. Reid and Mrs. Crumrine. The next meeting is scheduled for June 27.

W.R.C. GROUP AT CHURCH
MIDWAY CITY, May 28.—With 15 members of the W.R.C. at the Smalley Woman's Relief corps a special service was held Sunday morning at the Midway City Nazarene church. The pastor, the Rev. J. A. Wootton, took as his subject "Blessed are the Peacemakers" and a special vocal number, "If I Could Hear My Mother Pray," was sung by Mrs. Frank Husk and Mrs. C. F. Condit. The women of the W.R.C. gave a short drill.

It was arranged that she was to meet him at the Ritz at 1. Later they would go over to the building on the East River where Dr. Kaye was to live, in two rooms high above the turgid stream with its clogs and doughy steamers plying their way to New England. After John had left Katharine called the number of the riding club.

"That you, Tips? It's Miss Strykhurst. Tell Michael I won't be riding today. I didn't want him to keep Furry for me..." Her heart pounded unaccountably as she waited. The colored boy's voice came to her faintly over the phone.

"That's all right, Miss Strykhurst. Miss Michael, he went off with Miss Moon on Furry 10:15 minutes ago."

Katharine put the telephone in its cradle with hands that shook a little. She scarcely recognized the white face that stared back at her from the mirror. Sally Moon—on her own little horse. Sally there at her hour!

Ellen went by, with a drift of dresses over her arm. "I pressed your pink shantung, Miss Katharine."

"Thanks" But she didn't really hear it. She wasn't thinking of the frock she would wear to town to lunch with John Kaye. Her mind burned with the vision of two riders drifting along the green lanes together.

Was this jealousy? Was she really in love with Michael Heathcote?

Was this jealousy? Was she really in love with Michael Heathcote?

She did not mind Katharine, and yet tonight when the gushing Mrs. McIlvaine took possession of Dr. Kaye she was conscious of a distinct sense of annoyance. John seemed to like it. Of course he had met her half a dozen times before, but that was before. His had gone abroad to study. His two years in the European capital had robbed him of much of his former diffidence. He had an easy manner, an air of authority which Katharine was quick to recognize.

"...now tell me all about this marvelous facial surgery," Katharine heard her coo. John's gentle, deliberate voice answered. "Dance!" Captain Byrne was at her elbow.

"Love to," "Well, if John Kaye 'fell for' me, she was as easily as that. Katharine told herself later that night, she was afraid she wouldn't have much respect for him. Katharine had kept him at her side under quiet insistence all the remainder of the evening. It was Katharine's well-rounded but still charming figure, cased in ice-blue satin, that she saw beside Dr. Kaye's when the orchestra played the Continental. It was Katharine's well-massaged face that smiled coquettishly up at him during supper.

"Men are all fools," said Katharine to herself, as she undressed. Even Johnny, whom she had thought above such things. She fell asleep congratulating herself that she had not confided any of her innermost feelings to him. Moonlight streamed over the floor and lay in barred squares on the broad mahogany four-poster where she slept, uneasy rider on her dreams. A red-haired rider on her dreams, galloped though her room horse, and there was a lean, ascetic-looking man in evening clothes somewhere in it, too. Kaye argued with him, she was angry, she wept. She woke to an uneasy feeling.

But over the breakfast table Johnny Kaye was his usual pleasant self. He sprang to pull out Katharine's chair for her. His dark blue suit, his striped shirt, his scrubbed-looking surgeon's hands, were good solid facts in the foggy morning. An unearthly dripping mist brooded over the gardens. The girl felt heavy-eyed and listless.

"Sleep well?" "Not so very." As she unfolded her napkin he observed that the shadows under her eyes were deeper. "The foghorn blew all night long," Katharine contributed, sugaring her grapefruit. "You're going into town?" "On the 5:35, yes." He buttered a roll with precision. "Bertine said to tell you she'd be back before lunch. She had to go to some garden club meeting. And your father's off for early sail."

She lifted heavy eyes. Nothing seemed to matter very much this morning. She had missed all hour for riding. But did she want to ride any more? Wasn't Michael Heathcote becoming a far too important factor in her life? Would it, perhaps, be wise to make a KATHARINE STRYKHURST, beautiful, 20, is discontented with the life of a socialite. She is tired of making up her life. Her father and aristocratic stepmother and aristocratic stepmother undertake any sort of work.

Katharine rides idly with Miss CHAS. HEATHER, young westerner who runs a riding club. SALLY MOON, local coquette, also enrolls at the club for riding lessons. ZOE PARKER, Katharine's friend, returns from Europe where she was with her father, a man of letters, with a new attitude. ZOE PARKER, of whom her parents disapprove, is still in love with Gibbs.

DR. JOHN KAYE, a relative of Bertine's, pays the Strykhursts a visit. NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY
CHAPTER VI
Zoe, after all, was not angry. Katharine's heart softened when she saw her at the Country club dance—small and round and wistful—floating printed silk, which was the prize of the frocks she had brought back from Paris.

It was a gala night at the club. Ribbons of colored paper flew back and forth, and balloons were set free, only to be punctured by the cigarette of some roisterer. Katharine danced with Dr. Kaye, to the tune of a popular song. She looked lovely tonight in clear ivory silk, the gown molded to the lines of her exquisite young figure. Bertine's animated face, as she laughed and talked with John Kaye, observed to her husband with satisfaction that Katharine had evidently forgotten all about that career nonsense.

Frank Collins, the typical sophisticated, in elegant English dinner clothes, with real pearls for studs, made a foil for Zoe Parker. Lisa Parker and Bertine both agreed that they were a charming pair. "Lisa signed. 'I wouldn't mind seeing her settle down—after this last year.'"

"You've had a worrying time of it," agreed Bertine, who knew all about Gibbs and who, although not a mother herself, would tell any girl of today was certainly a problem.

The only thing Katharine really seemed to care about, Bertine said brightly, "is riding. Really, I wish sometimes that Victor had let her have a horse of her own. I am not quite sure I like the idea of exposing her to the charms of that young westerner over at Shady Ridge. Much too good-looking, in a certain crude way."

"Oh, Katharine's all right," Lisa Parker said comfortably, watching Zoe's brown, black-coated shoulder. "She is so serene. Nothing ever seems to trouble her."

Bertine started to reply, but thought better of it. People misunderstood so, if she said a single word about Katharine! That was what it was to be a stepmother. Nobody gave you the least bit of credit.

Katharine steered John out on the terrace. "Noisy!" she observed, drooping against a pillar. "And hot!"

"John, you see what I mean about father and Bertine? I haven't had a chance to talk to you all day."

He nodded. "I see. They want to keep you wrapped in cotton

She did not mind Katharine, and yet tonight when the gushing Mrs. McIlvaine took possession of Dr. Kaye she was conscious of a distinct sense of annoyance. John seemed to like it. Of course he had met her half a dozen times before, but that was before. His had gone abroad to study. His two years in the European capital had robbed him of much of his former diffidence. He had an easy manner, an air of authority which Katharine was quick to recognize.

SOME IMPLICATIONS OF THE NRA DECISION

The declaration, by the supreme court of the United States, that the National Industrial Recovery act is unconstitutional, does not come as a serious surprise to very many people who have been studying the question.

But its consequences are far-reaching and the supreme court has done well to clearly define the route by which reform or recovery cannot be travelled.

Never was there an hour when one could be more thankful that we have a constitutional government than yesterday, when the supreme court spoke.

The several hundred industrial codes, operating under the NRA, with varying restrictions and rules and regulations, imposed penalties for acts in one line of business that were virtues in other lines of business.

They permitted the violation of principles that have been long a part of our national policy. In their attempt to correct some of the outstanding evils of the economic system under which we live, the various codes violated underlying foundational principles of that system.

These, the supreme court has corrected in its decision.

But we should not forget the purpose of the NRA. The evils of our severe competitive system have become manifest.

Every man in the industry was forced, by the intensity of competition, to regulate his industry pretty much according to the rules of the meanest man in the industry, in point of expense, including wages, etc.

Efficiency meant the installation of labor-saving machinery and the increase of the unemployed. Price reductions on certain merchandise were below cost, in order to sell customers on other lines on which profit was being made.

Manufacturers having their own outlets to the retailer, together with great institutions buying in quantities, enabling them to undersell the independents, were increasing the great volume of business done by the few and decreasing the amount done by the many.

Twelve million men were out on the streets unemployed; their families were in distress except as being supported by public charity, and the national administration, deeply concerned, had the National Industrial Recovery act drawn up to remedy such a situation.

Under its operation, we are told, two million and a half people have found employment. Some of the worst evils of the competitive system have been eliminated.

Business groups had come together and drawn up codes of honorable competitive selling, and this had no sooner been inaugurated than it was found that the strong in these business groups had organized them in the interest of the strong against the weak; that "chiseling" was taking place everywhere, and the successful business men, who felt they did not need government protection, were complaining that the whole thing was a handicap and not a help.

The decision of the supreme court wipes this all out. It does away with the good as well as the bad. It places our competitive industries, from the United States Steel corporation down to the smallest business that is conducted in a "hole in the wall," upon the intense competitive basis of former years.

And this is done with the added knowledge that the federal government cannot interfere, unless the business is distinctly one belonging to interstate commerce. Whatever regulations can be passed even as to them must be uniform and the same must apply to all lines of trade.

It must be a law passed by congress, with all the details of rules and regulations, so that every man engaged in business will be governed by the same rule of action, as far as national law is concerned, as every other man engaged in business.

Powers to legislate and regulate cannot be delegated. If this same rule would apply within the state as applies without the state, the pro-rate law of California, which empowers groups, set up within a certain area of producers, to regulate the marketing of the product and penalizing those who do not follow such direction, would be null and void.

Certainly the same principles, upon which the supreme court decided the NIRA was unconstitutional, will apply to the Agricultural Adjustment act. When that is squarely before the supreme court, we may expect a like result.

We are living under a constitution. We are living in a capitalistic, competitive system.

The attempts by either alleged statesmen, politicians, or business interests, to claim the power of legislative bodies to aid them in forcing their will upon minorities, in respect to production, merchandising, buying and selling and all that goes to make up the business life of the individual, cannot be permitted and still have both our constitution and our economic system retained.

We must choose between the system that we have, constitutionally and in economics, or go to another. You cannot make hostile parts of both work. This is the meaning of the decision of the supreme court. "You can't eat your cake and have it too."

You cannot get the benefits of any system without its handicaps. The decision of the supreme court declares you cannot unite fire and water; that you cannot "weld the pewter handle to the wooden spoon."

WILL THESE HIGH SALARIES CONTINUE?

With the code authorities of NRA wiped out by the Supreme Court decision yesterday, the question arises of what will happen to the high-salaried jobs in connection with the various code administrations.

Recent disclosures of the higher salaries paid in this branch of the "New Deal" revealed that George J. Lincoln, jr., Philadelphia attorney, was receiving four salaries from separate NRA code authorities totalling $28,200, and that there were 12 other workers who were drawing from $20,000 to $30,000 annually for code authority work.

Incidentally there were 397 code authority officials who received $5000 per year or more, and 349 NRA staff members, exclusive of the code personnel, who received $5000 or more annually. Total NRA and code authority expenses were reported as approximately $53,500,000 annually.

Donald Richberg, NRA chairman, was drawing $14,000 per year and the six other NRA board members were drawing $12,000 a year.

Revelation of these salaries, shortly before the Supreme Court ruling was announced, had brought from Chairman Richberg the statement that code authority salaries were expected to be forced to conform with federal wage rates.

Now that the whole code structure has been wiped out and the usefulness of these people is at an end, the salaries will be saved. It is unfortunate indeed that the moment anything is inaugurated by the government in the interest of better life in any direction, that there must be such high-salaried administrators fastened upon the treasury.

FIRST ANNIVERSARY OF DIONNE QUINTUPLETS' BIRTH

Today is the anniversary of the birth of the Dionne quintuplets.

It is the first time in history that there is a record of quintuplets who lived to the age of one year.

The parents are to be congratulated, to be sure, but modern science and the development of knowledge, particularly in the care of infants, is more greatly to be thanked.

The world is always interested in the unusual. While the legislature of Ontario has made them wards of the province, certainly the civilized world has adopted these five little "babes" as its own.

We will all be interested in them and hope for their good health. And on the recurring anniversaries we will watch with interest the stories that come from the group.

It is unfortunate that the sadness of the mother's lament should come at the same time that we are happy over the health and age of the children.

It is to be hoped that those, upon whom rests the responsibility for the health and care of the children, may be so sympathetic and understanding of the mother's and father's yearnings that they can give them the consideration that is due.

Certainly it does suggest that if with exceeding care five "babes" may be reared under such an original, unpromising material situation, with similar care directed under more up-to-date and modern conditions, infant mortality should decrease very greatly.

Dishonorable

Hollywood Citizen-News

Issuance of "courtesy cards" by Raymond E. Cato, chief of the California Highway Patrol, has been strongly criticised by Justice of the Peace Kenneth E. Morrison of Santa Ana.

An associate of Baron Long, who appeared before the Justice on a speeding charge, was found to be carrying one of the cards. He had previously been arrested and on the strength of the card had been released by another Justice of the Peace.

But this time the "courtesy card" bearer was ordered to jail for five days and the Justice announced his intention to file a protest with Governor Merriam against the "courtesy card" practice.

Everyone knows that the issuance of "courtesy cards" is a vicious practice that destroys respect for government and its officers. There is no honorable basis for the issuance of "courtesy cards." The only basis is a dishonorable one, a granting of immunity, for wrong-doing to the politically powerful which is denied to the great host of good citizens.

Issuance of "courtesy cards" marks the public official responsible therefore as a dishonorable public official. Honorable public officials do not indulge in such practices.

Honorary police badges and deputy sheriff badges also have been issued purely for political purposes.

Chief of Police Davis is today engaged in the practice of issuing either captains' or lieutenants' badges to special friends on the grounds that the friends are to aid him in his alleged war on Communists. Some of the badges are issued to well-meaning citizens. Others are issued to persons one wouldn't trust out of sight.

Honest government isn't built on special favors. Dishonest government is built on special favors.

Since the great host of decent, law-abiding citizens can get along well without special favors from their government, there is no excuse for showing special favors to those who have political power.

Once the civic sense of the public is developed to a worthy standard, public officials will recognize the shame that is theirs when they indulge in granting special favors.

More Nonsense

San Diego Union

This country needs, among other things, some means of teaching state legislators that their states still are part of the American commonwealth. The latest example of this lack was supplied by Assemblyman Jones and Redwine in the shape of a bill bearing their name which would post guards at the state borders with authority to select the Americans who would be permitted to enter California. Like the authors of state liquor traffic laws now in force in some states, Messrs Jones and Redwine undoubtedly believe that they are acting in the best interests of their state. But legislators need something more than good intentions, as this measure reveals. They can see, if they take the trouble to look, that depression—and its consequences—is a national and not a state problem. If they inquired they could learn that the nation is contributing generously to the support of California indigents.

The Jones-Redwine bill would transplant one of Europe's worst weaknesses to California at a moment when the entire trend is toward centralization of government.

Five Cheers For the Quintuplets!

More Truth Than Poetry

By James J. Montague

PSYCHOLOGY AND THE CHILD

A psychologist tells us that children

By the time they are seven years old

As a rule are too bright

To take any delight

In the myths they are constantly told.

They should not be brought up upon fables,

And their parents should sternly insist

Before they arrive

At the ripe age of five

That Santa Claus doesn't exist.

But if the old man with the whiskers

Should suddenly vanish away,

Every child would be found

The whole year around

Indulging in some kind of play.

For as soon as they're out of their cradles

They people their small world with elves;

The birds and the bees

The grass and the trees

They preempt for their own little selves.

Psychologists know more than I do

Of complexes, urges and such;

They are erudite chaps

But I think that perhaps

They know just a trifle too much.

Kids have patterned around this planet

Since the era of Adam and Eve;

Just start 'em out straight,

Let 'em take their own gait,

And it won't matter what they believe.

ONLY FAIR

PARAGRAPHS

By Robert Quillen

But if there is no harm in printing money for one group, how stingy and hateful not to print enough to enrich all of us. Humble to realize that he plays the fool. Funny man! He fusses about Federal taxes and meekly pays a much heavier tax on his gullibility.

If the government would help the poor and make money on the deal, let it offer a dime bounty for our 200 million rats.

FABLE: ONCE A MAN MARRIED A WOMAN WHO HAD SOME MONEY, AND FIVE YEARS LATER SHE STILL HAD IT.

Don't expect too much of beauty aids. Paint improves the appearance of a barn, but it still has the shape of a barn. The rich have some advantages, but the marble palace and the little wood bungalow have the same kind of bugs in the kitchen.

Nobody: A person whose children aren't given a high grade in school unless they earn it.

AMERICANISM: "Feeling very smart and worldly-wise and superior to hicks; giving swindlers (government figures) $2,500,000,000 a year.

Brisbane thinks Amelia superior to Lindy because she flies the modern co-ed in a flivver?

Why print the menu in French? Well, a prescription is worth $1.75 because the patient doesn't know it calls for a nickel's worth of soda.

The more you observe what the millions fall for, the more you wonder why swindlers are so few.

HOW STRANGE THAT SMOKING CURES OTHER RAW MEAT AND WON'T DO A DARNED THING FOR A RAW THROAT.

Getting rich isn't difficult. You just promise impossible profits and let nature take its course. It's a good idea to increase the army. Some day there will be no more money to give away.

But how offended we shall be when Jap ships and planes maneuver on our side of the Pacific.

To end war, end diplomats. Nobody would get excited about stocks if there were no stock brokers.

CORRECT THIS SENTENCE: "I'LL WORK FOR NOTHING," SAID THE PROUD AMERICAN, "BEFORE I'LL LET THE JAPS BEAT MY COUNTRY."

THE FARMER'S EXPORT-IMPORT LEDGER

Facts are more eloquent than generalizations. And so I resort to the vivid coloring of a few figures today.

Just how does the farmer's export-import ledger look?

First as to his exports. As I said yesterday, in the second half of the nineteenth century the farmer's exports made up somewhere from seventy to eighty per cent of all our exports.

By 1922 the farmer's exports represented about fifty per cent of the total value of our national exports.

In the four years from 1926 to 1930 they dropped still further to about thirty-six per cent of our export total.

This drop, crop by crop, has been a very real and disturbing fact to the farmer as it has become more swift and steep in the later years. Before the war he was exporting twenty-one per cent of his wheat; by 1933 only 11 per cent.

Before the war he was exporting a larger per cent of the total production of each of his crops than he was able to export by 1933. I need not rehearse the figures for each crop.

In 1924 he was realizing more than sixteen per cent of his gross income from export sales.

By 1930 and 1931 he was realizing less than seven and a half per cent of his gross income from export sales.

And now we are actually beginning to increase our imports of farm products.

Last year we imported more than ninety-five million dollars worth more of vegetable food products and beverages than the year before. And our imports of staple animal products went up also. No wonder the farm problem is giving headaches to statesmen.

THE BEGINNERS

The child beginning school life has so many difficulties at once that anything one can do to remove even one of them ought to be done promptly. Anything that can be done to avoid a difficulty should be done.

The little child, who has never been to school, leaves a whole scheme of life behind him and enters on a new one. Instead of mother, there is a stranger who speaks in strange tones and in a strange language.

Whoever heard: "Class, Stand, Right, Face, Forward, March! One, Two, One, Two"? And what in the world is it all about? "Attention, Class, Books on Desk, One, Two, Three." That means take your book out of your desk and hold it in a funny way in your right hand with your left hands doing something to it. Everything is like that, even going to play and getting a drink and going to the toilet. It takes a lot of getting used to things.

If you have a sore arm where the doctor scratched it, or a sore leg where he pricked it, things are even worse. If you are sent for and escorted to a little room a long way down the hall, and the doctor asks you to say, "Ah-h-h," and you do, and he says, "All right!" and gives the messenger a blue slip and then the teacher sends you home to give it to your mother, that's still worse. It means you have to have your throat fixed, stay home a few days, and feel bad because all the other children are in school and getting smarter every day.

If you are in school and are afraid of everybody and everything, if the bells make you shiver, and the teachers make you tremble, and you are afraid to stand up and speak out loud when the teacher tells you to, that is very bad. So bad that you simply can't do a thing about it except cry and tell your mother you don't want to go any more. School can be dreadful for a beginner if he has any such trouble.

A mother, who knows that her child will go to school at the beginning of the term, should get him ready now. Have all vaccinations made. Have the birth certificates and vaccination papers in an envelope in a safe place waiting for the day school opens. Be sure that the child's nose and throat and teeth are in good shape. He is going to be with crowds of children and the better shape he is in the less liable he will be to become ill. Don't wait until school opens to prepare him. Do it now! Try to have the child familiar with the building and the teacher. The principal will be happy to make this possible if you ask him to help you. A glimpse of happy children working busily with the teacher robs school of much of its fear. A familiarity with the building takes away some of the dread. If a friendly child, who knows the ways of the school, can escort the stranger for the first day or so, that makes things much easier. It is better for a child to do this than for the mother. Of course if there is no one else mother must do it herself.

Should any mother have the misfortune to have a child refuse to stay in school without her the best thing she can do is to turn the child over to the teacher and go home. Do not take the child home. Let him cry it out and discover that nothing happens to him in spite of all his worry. Prepare him for his entering day and leave him with the teacher. He must do the rest for himself.
